THE NEW ZEALAND EXHIBITION.

THE VICEREGAL AND MINISTERIAL VISIT TO DUNEDIN.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.)

DUNEDIN, Jan. 21.

The past week has been the New South Wales field week during this Exhibition season. Victoria is Dunedin's nearest Australian neighbour, and, since Dunedin has been "at home" to all her neighbours and the world generally, these nearest, the Victorians, and the Melbournites in particular, have most frequently crossed the threshold of the Edinburgh of this Britain of the Southern Hemisphere. While Victoria, from her nearness to this part of New Zealand, naturally supplies the greatest number of visitors, New South Wales "takes the cake" in quality if not in quantity. The Hon. Alfred Deakin, the Victorian Colonial Secretary, recently paid this city and the Exhibition a visit, but eloquent and able though that gentleman be, he was but one—he came alone. The elder colony can fairly be said to have manifested the greatest Governmental interest in the show of the young ocean isolated sister, as she has distanced all competitors in her splendid mineral exhibits and charming court generally. On Sunday H.M.S. Orlando arrived outside the heads, and transhipped the Gove nor of New South Wales and Admiral Lord Charles Scott and their secretaries into H.M.S. Lizard, which, bringing them up to Port Chalmers, the distinguished visitors there took train for Dunedin, where they were met by Lord Onslow and many representative citizens, and accorded a most hearty welcome to Maoriland. Lord Carrington, with the Admiral and their secretaries, was quartered at Government House, a huge lofty caravanserai kind of building, at Ocean Beach, sheltered by dreary sandy drives from the waves of the Pacific.

The following day, Monday, the good citizens of this erstwhile most quiet, methodical, and businessed-roussed city, knew by wire from The Bluff, the first port of call, that the Hon. the Treasurer of New South Wales, and the Hon. the Minister for Justice of that colony, also the Chief Commissioner for Railways, Mr. E. M. G. Eddy, and Mrs. Eddy, and a well-known representative of the New South Wales Upper House, the Hon. R. H. D. White, had arrived, with the object of visiting the Exhibition. With so strong a contingent of representatives from the mother colony, it is not to be wondered at that New South Wales was in everybody's mouth and mind. In the brief White history of this Middle Island, never had the mother colony been so thought of and talked of as during the week from the 19th to the 25th January, 1890. Her Majesty's Ministers of the colony of New South Wales had their quarters in the Grand Hotel, one of the best appointed in Australasia. The week was, as may be supposed, a very busy one, and in the space of this brief letter I can only indicate what the various functions and events were.

Lord Carrington on Monday morning, with Lord and Lady Onslow, and Admiral Lord Charles Scott and party, was away to attend the opening of the Rifle Association, on which occasion the amiable and popular countess fired the first shot. The early part of the day was spent with the Rifle Association, and the latter part quietly at Government House, with his host and fellow-Governor, a man well able to post his visitor in the political tendencies of this some-time-to-be wealthy and powerful group of islands. The New South Wales Ministers and party on Tuesday morning paid their respects at Government House; and during the same morning, later on, the New South Wales Governor and Government House party paid an official visit to the Exhibition, as did also, on their part, the New South Wales Ministers. Mr. Oscar Meyer, the New South Wales Commissioner, received the large posse of visitors in the charming court he has created, and received the well-earned compliments of Lord Carrington and the Ministers upon the success that has attended his exertions.

Subsequently the entire party, vice-regal and New South Wales visitors generally, including the Hon. R. B. Smith, C.M.G., were entertained at luncheon in the Exhibition by the president, Mr. John Roberts. In the afternoon the Ministers paid a round of visits, and in the evening, everybody was at the Government House fancy dress ball, where the costumes ranged from Sir Galahad to a beefsteak, and from Ethereal Dawn and Good Queen Bess, to a female cook. The New South Wales Ministers conformed to the occasion by wearing red facings on their evening dress, and the Hon. R. H. D. White was a grand seigneur in a plain coloured velvet court suit. Lord Carrington was in unpretentious pink. Wednesday, at Government House, was a quiet day, winding up with a "man dinner" at night, at which the distinguished New South Wales visitors were guests. These gentlemen in the forenoon were present at a lunch given by the Hon. George and Mrs. M'Lean, at their charming residence in North Dunedin. Thursday was a special New South Wales day. The entire vice-regal and New South Wales parties visited the Exhibition, and in particular the New South Wales courts; then attended a special concert in the concert hall, and subsequently Lord Carrington, the Ministers, and the Commissioner received a number of visitors to afternoon tea in the handsomely-appointed New South Wales Commissioner's reception rooms, where Mrs. Oscar Meyer presided with the kindly grace that has made her so popular in Dunedin. In the evening, the great field night of the mother colony took place. New Zealand had given a banquet, Victoria had followed suit, and this N. S. W. banquet was timed to take place when the N. S. W. Governor and Ministers should be in New Zealand. The large banqueting hall of the Grand Hotel was selected for the occasion, and it was most charmingly decorated with multitudinous plants, flowers, shrubs, and flags, under Mr. Meyer's personal direction, by Mr. G. Hibble of Sydney. One hundred gentlemen sat down. Mr. M'Millan took the chair, Mr. Oscar Meyer the vice-chair. The Governors of New Zealand and New South Wales, the Admiral, and representatives of the New Zealand Ministry and Legislatures, the Bench, the Bar, the Naval, and Military Forces, the Exhibition Executive, the Church, &c., were present. Of the speeches you have already had such portions as more particularly interest New South Wales; and of the banquet itself the New Zealanders say no better appointed one has been given. Friday the Ministers took a drive in the forenoon in the country, and in the evening attended a large ball given by the members of the Dunedin Club. This proved to be one of the most successful functions of the season, the charming rooms and grounds of the club being thronged by over 600 visitors. In the morning of the day the Government House party, under the charge of Dr Coughtry, drove some 18 miles into the country to wage war upon wild cattle; but, though there was much hunting after them, there was absolutely no sport, the wild cattle either being non est or too wild to approach. Saturday morning, by special train, leaving at 10.25 Lord Onslow, Lord Carrington, Admiral Lord Charles Scott, and party, and the New South Wales Ministerial party, en masse, departed for Christchurch, the capital of the Canterbury district, 230 miles north of Dunedin. Sunday was spent there, and on Monday the vice-regal party went on board the Orlando at Port Lyttelton, bound for Wellington, en route to Auckland and the jubilee festivities to be held there. To-day the Ministers again visited the Exhibition, and this afternoon leave for Sydney via Melbourne. As regards weather, during the past week a Yankee visitor once said, "This place has no weather—you only get samples." The remark is as apt as witty. The visitors have been favoured with nearly every possible kind of weather—rain lashing storms, gentle showers, wind tempests, and soft sephyrs, hail, calm, bitter cold, warm genial days, grey lowering skies, and cerulean skies. With it all, the trip, both by his Excellency Lord Carrington and by the Ministers, appears to have been thoroughly enjoyed, and they carry away the good wishes of their hosts, and most pleasant recollections of their stay in Maoriland, not by any means forgetting that which brought them here—viz., the New Zealand and South Seas Exhibition.

OUR NEW ZEALAND LETTER.

AUCKLAND, Jan. 21.

It has now been definitely decided that the Hon. Captain Russell, Minister of Defence, the most recent accession to the ministry, and Sir John Hall, a former premier and a New Zealand statesman of wide reputation, shall represent the Government of this colony at the Federation Conference. It was hoped that the Premier would be one of the representatives. He takes a deep and strong interest in the question of federation. But the state of his health would not permit of it. He a trip to Tasmania has not done Sir Harry Atkinson much good. Captain Russell and Sir John Hall are, however, excellent representatives. It would, indeed, have been difficult to make a better choice. They are both men of considerable political standing, of high culture, and of deep thought. They are neither professional politicians nor impecunious office seekers, nor blatant demagogues thirsting after notoriety—a class unfortunately too numerous in this as in other colonies. They belong to the party of respectability, order, and prudent progression. They are both exceedingly wealthy, and have thus a substantial stake in the country. Captain Russell has been spoken of as the coming man. He is beyond doubt gifted with great ability, and is likely to favourably impress the delegates at the conference. What the instructions of himself and colleague will be it is, of course, impossible to say; but, in all probability, they will be of a strictly non-committal character. The fact is, New Zealand has not yet been educated up to the point of federation, and is by no means inclined to enthuse over it. The opinion most generally entertained is that we have more to gain by remaining as we are than by becoming an integral part of an Australasian union.

The trade of the colony continues to furnish fresh proofs of returning prosperity and renewed activity. Last year the exports exceeded by over a million and a third in value those of the previous 12 months, while the imports showed an increase of £355,000. This is a healthy and satisfactory sign, and affords unmistakable evidence that the colony is entering upon a period of commercial prosperity, and that trade generally is reviving. This is made manifest in many ways. Money is circulating more freely, and there is a far better demand for labour. The "unemployed" have disappeared. In the country districts there is an actual scarcity of labour. We are making steady if not very rapid progress in spite of—perhaps because of—the absence of such doubtful aids as "booms." At the end of the financial year the Government will have a surplus in hand. It was thought at one time that it would be a very substantial one, for there seemed every prospect of its amounting to two hundred thousand pounds. There has, however, been an unexpected drain in the land revenue as well as in Customs, and these sanguine estimates have accordingly had to be abandoned. All things considered, however, the outlook is decidedly encouraging.

The Eastern Extension Telegraph Company are proceeding with characteristic expedition in the construction of the duplicate cable between New Zealand and Australia. Over 3000ft. have already been manufactured, and at this rate of speed a very short time will see the whole cable completed and laid. There is a reason, of course, for this despatch. The proposal which the New Zealand Government mooted for the construction by New South Wales and this colony of an independent cable from the north of New Zealand to some point on the Queensland coast has no doubt alarmed the Eastern Extension Company and prompted them to the haste they are now making. It is one of the chief features of their policy to endeavour always to anticipate opposition, and forestall rivalry. Had they had their own way they would have obtained virtually a monopoly of cable communication between New Zealand and Australia for many years. Unable to gain this, they have wisely resolved to stave off the threatened opposition for as long a time as possible by increasing and facilitating the means of intercolonial cable communication. This was much required. The existing cable is an old one, and although it has not been interrupted very often there is said to be a weak part in it somewhere, which might at any moment give way, and so completely isolate New Zealand from the rest of the world so far as the electric telegraph system is concerned. This is a contingency which in these days of commercial activity and journalistic enterprise, when the remotest parts of the British empire beat in sympathetic accord with the pulsations of the great heart of London—this is a danger which it is, of course, imperative to provide against. I understand also that messages can only be sent through the present cable at a tediously slow rate, something like 14 words per minute. This occasions great delay in the case of a long message like those which the Sydney Morning Herald and the Melbourne Argus frequently receive from their New Zealand correspondents. Although, however, the Eastern Extension Company are showing a very commendable spirit in laying a duplicate cable sooner or later the proposal of the New Zealand Government will become an accomplished fact. The only difficulty at present is one of ways and means, and that is certainly not an insurmountable one. By the route suggested, namely, from Ahipara Bay, in the north of New Zealand, to Brisbane, the cost of laying a cable is estimated at £200,000. This route is shorter than the eastern cable by 800 miles. The calculations which have been made are very favourable to the undertaking. It is computed that the cable would pay 10 per cent. on the cost of construction. The New Zealand Government are very sanguine that the proposal will eventually be carried out, and in view of that desired end they are now extending the overland telegraph wires to Ahipara. This is a question which will probably come within the scope of the discussions at the Federation Conference.

In mining matters the new year has opened with a much more hopeful and promising outlook than affairs have worn for a long time past. This remark applies not only to the Thames and Coromandel goldfields but to those on the west coast of the middle island. There is in this part of the colony a growing feeling that we are on the eve of some rich and important discoveries. In the Puhipuhi forest, an extensive and valuable kauri reserve, the property of the Government, situated north of Wangarei, silver lodes have been found by prospecting parties, which are likely to lead to very important results. Several tests have been made of stone from these lodes with very variable results, ranging from hundreds of ounces to the ton down to nil. There is no doubt, however, that payable silver reefs exist in the forest, and that their locality is known to those who have permission to prospect in the Puhipuhi. The Government have been urged to throw the forest open to miners, but they have steadily refused, as well as to granting prospecting licences indiscriminately, on account of the great danger to the forest from fire at this dry season. They have, however, de-gazetted Mr. Gordon, the mining inspector, to the scene of the recent discoveries, and should his report prove favourable steps will, of course, be taken to develop and work the reefs. In the Coromandel district a new gold-field has been discovered at a place called Kuaotuna. The stone is exceedingly rich, but none of the claims have as yet been sufficiently opened out to enable one to pronounce decisively as to the extent or value of the find. Good judges, however, declare the field to be the best discovered since the Thames. The proprietors of the Try Flake claim, from which the richest returns have been got (5 tons of ore, yielding 63oz. 16dwt. melted gold) are now erecting a battery on the field, and this will lead to renewed activity in the other claims, the cost and difficulty of getting stuff sent to the nearest battery having hitherto greatly retarded operations. Another and serious drawback to the proper development of the field is the want of capital. This is felt elsewhere as well as at Kuaotuna, and is impeding very much our mining industry. It has been said with truth that we have been merely scratching the surface all these years, and that the truly rich deposits of the precious metal lie at much greater depths than we have as yet penetrated to. But deep level mining requires a large preliminary outlay. Some day, however, some enterprising company will have the pluck to make the venture, and will reap the reward. Then all the others will follow. At the Thames the various mines are doing well, and the shareholders in most of them are looking forward to the steady payment of dividends.

The influenza epidemic in Europe and America is attracting a good deal of attention in this colony from the similarity which the disease bears to the dengue fever so common in Fiji and other islands of the South Pacific. According to all accounts, however, it is of a more severe character than that experienced in this quarter of the globe, assuming it to be dengue fever. It has also been noted that it is not unlike a complaint which was very prevalent in Wellington two or three years ago. Dr. Haimes, of Auckland, who has recently returned from Europe, is inclined to think that the colonies are in no danger of being visited by the epidemic, and that it will not cross the Equator. So far it does not appear to have done so, the cable messages making no mention of its appearance in southern latitudes. The Central Board of Health of this colony has had the matter under consideration. It is willing to co-operate with the health authorities in other colonies in whatever measures they may deem necessary or desirable to take for the prevention of the introduction of the epidemic. But until more precise information is forthcoming concerning the true nature of the disease, it is not very easy to say what means should be taken to guard against it. Meanwhile there is no reason apparently for uneasiness or alarm.

PARLIAMENTARY STANDING COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC WORKS.

The Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works met yesterday. There were present Mr. J. P. Abbott, M.L.A., president; the Hon. Dr. Garran, M.L.C., Messrs. J. E. Tonkin, W. S. Dowel, C. A. Lee, Jacob Garrard, H. Copeland, M.L.A., and the Hons. J. Lackey, M.L.C., and G. H. Cox, M.L.C.

HOLSWORTHY AND FORBES RAILWAY.

Mr. John Charles M'Lachlan, solicitor, gave evidence. He said that he had resided at Orange for 23 years, and was well acquainted with the surrounding district; also knew the districts of Parkes and Forbes; when the Molong branch was constructed, it seemed to be the idea that the line should run down the Bogan. In his opinion a line from Boreonore to Forbes passed through better and more populous country and likely to give more immediate returns. It was in one part one of the best wheat districts in the colony. There was settlement on this route for 10 miles back on each side of the land. The population would be very much larger were it not for the reserves, which locked up a good deal of the best land. Water was not all required for travelling stock. Produce now found its way to Orange chiefly, and a little to Forbes. Cudal would be the chief grain-growing district. Maize could be cultivated, but it would be limited to the local market or to markets further to the westward. There was some very good land and also some very inferior land on the Molong-Parkes route. The objection he saw to the line was that if this line were constructed, it would not be long before the people on the Cudal route would be entitled to demand railway communication. Orange people were in favour of the Cudal line; considered that for a trunk line Forbes was more important than Parkes; had no knowledge of the country between Cowra and Forbes. There was good land in the Cowra district.

Mr. J. P. Sharkey, C.E., said he had surveyed the Molong to Parkes route and the Cudal route. The steepest gradient between Boreonore and Keenan's Swamp was 1 in 40. The survey passed south of the Swamp. It was all easy work from the Swamp to Eugowra. His survey was at least 6ft. to 7ft. higher than the level of the Swamp, therefore he considered that although the country was liable to flood there was no danger to be apprehended. The country between Boreonore and Forbes was the best he had seen in the colony. It was red chocolate soil, 4ft., 5ft., and 6ft. deep; on the Molong-Parkes route it was dark soil, and not so good; it was also more patchy. Had not been in the district for about six years. Was aware of the circumstance that led to the construction of the line from Orange to Molong. Orange people did not seem to take much interest in the "rival" route; Molong people were very anxious to connect with Parkes. The Boreonore line was better situated, geographically than any other. The Cudal survey went within about 6 miles of Forbes; had never seen such heavy traffic on roads as on the Forbes, Boreonore, and Orange roads; it was so great that the roads department used to metal the road to enable it to meet the wool and grain traffic; before the railway went to Molong two trips a week of a four-horse van were sufficient to do the business between the two places; had no interest in either route; had reported to the Government in 1883, before any question of rival routes had arisen, that the Boreonore to Forbes district presented commercial prospects which the railway department could not overlook. Had surveyed the Flagstone Creek route, but the country was too rough on each side of the line; did not go into much of the line of route; there was no good country on either side of this part of the Molong to Parkes line.

The inquiry was adjourned. Further evidence will be taken before the sectional committee shortly to visit the localities interested.

MUDGEE TO GULGONG RAILWAY.

Mr. Henry Deane, acting engineer-in-chief, gave evidence. He said an improved survey had been made by which the grades on the trial survey of 1 in 40 were reduced to 1 in 76 and 1 in 80. The bridge over the Cudgegong River had also been reduced in cost and the line cheapened. The new route was not longer than the trial survey; the bridge was originally to cost £17,500, but it was now estimated it could be reduced by £3500, as a better crossing had been found higher up the river. A reduction of £1000 per mile could be made. It had formerly been the custom to run a survey from one point to another and then to run the permanent survey to prove whether it was the best, but he had lately found it necessary to introduce a more detailed system, and make a closer examination of the country before indicating the route of a railway.

John Harper, district traffic inspector, said there would be a passenger traffic and interchange of commodities between Gulgong and Mudgee. It was the local idea that a line to Gulgong would be extended in a westerly direction. If the line to Gulgong were completed, it would be a cheaply worked line, and would assist the line from Mudgee to Wallerawang. It was the general opinion that the market for produce would be to the westward. The residents complained that so much land round Gulgong was locked up as a goldfield reserve. There was plenty of good chocolate soil in the locality.

Mr. T. R. Firth, assistant engineer in charge of trial surveys, said he went over the line about six weeks ago, and found that the gradients could be greatly reduced and the work lightened without increasing the cost at all. There would be a few more curves, but of no shorter radius than those on the original survey. The soil seemed good for agricultural pursuits. There was fencing-timber on the line, but square timber was not plentiful. The original estimate per mile was £6983. This could be reduced to £5800 per mile. Gulgong was not

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

For weeks past expectation has been rife concerning the fixture for the two principal handicap events to be run at the V. R. C. Autumn meeting—the Newmarket Handicap and the Australian Cup. The shorter race—the Newmarket Handicap—closed with 108 entries, and has the champion Carbine at the head of the list with 10st. 4lb., while Box and Fishwife follow closely in his wake with 10st. 11lb and 10st. respectively, and in these days of light-weighted flyers, the 9st.-do must appear to have been left with much chance of success; though it must be admitted that most of the cracks have been pretty well handicapped up to those that have been placed at the head of the list. Seventeen out of the long list have 9st. and over that weight, and the best in among them seem to be Cuirassier, Dreadnought, Trailleur, and Cinderella. Autocrat reads as well as anything that has been placed at 8st. 12lb., and Wycombe and Richelieu seem to have been somewhat punished, but Rudolph has not been crushed, and The Gift has just been left with a chance, unless the race be exceptionally fast. Ginger has a great private reputation, and it appears to be an open secret that his party are very partial to his prospects, while Consequence has a very hearty appearance at 7st. 10lb., and with a mere less Little Dick II. has been pretty well thrown in. Nearly everything with any pretensions to racing can get to the end at its fair-sage respectably, and therefore a very numerous field will sure to go to the post, and the winner promises to be very hard to find. The Australian Cup is quite another class of race, for the distance is 2½ miles, and as a consequence the field is likely to assume aristocratic dimensions when the all-important hour arrives. When allotted within a shade of 10st., Carbine has a task set him, and his fellow New Zealander, Maxim, has also come in for very little consideration when asked to carry 9st. 4lb. Bravo has enough in 9st. 7lb. Nanton has been imposed upon with 9lb. less, and it may be that Melos is the best off of the heavy weights, while the well-performed Cuirassier must be hard to beat, even with 8st. 13lb. in the saddle. Dreadnought has not been overrated, and if Singapore can be got back to his A. J. C Derby form, he should trouble the best of them with 8st. 3lb. in the saddle; and among others that have been pretty kindly treated are Lochend, Sir William, Sincere, Beanis Spes, and Handover.

The list of winners at the S. T. C. Anniversary meeting on Monday was headed by Mr. R. Mayo, who secured £382 by the victory of Hop Bitters in the leading handicap; the Hon. J. White's share amounted to £560, earned by Titan in the Challenge Stakes; the successes of Remrist in the Hurdle Race, and Fernadee in the Corinthian Plate credited Mr. G. D. Wood with £235; Mr. J. Cook's portion was £177, the result of Forty Winks' performance in the Nursery Handicap; Kevin netted £181 for Mr. T. Stewart by her win in the Sovereign Plate; and the following amounts were received for second and third places by the nominations of Messrs. A. C. Gibson (Tirenna, second in the Anniversary Handicap), £100; T. Sampson (Ustane, second in the Challenge Stakes), £75; C. T. Roberts (Little Clare, second in the Nursery Handicap), £50; R. C. Allen (Melos, third in the Anniversary Handicap), £50; W. Fousham (Eurolgi, second in the Hurdle Race), £25; H. Oxenham (The Gift, third in the Challenge Stakes), £25; and H. C. White (Ringdove, second in the Corinthian Plate), £20; making a total of £2284.

Fair support was given yesterday by owners and trainers to the race meeting to be held at Rosehill on the 5th proximo, in aid of the funds of the Parramatta Hospital. The Charity Handicap closed with 27; Sovereign Hurdle Race, 8; Hospital Handicap, 11; Mercy Stakes, 12; and Welter Handicap, 12. The entries can be seen in another part of this issue.

The settlement of liabilities incurred over the Sydney Turf Club Anniversary Meeting took place at Tattersall's Rooms yesterday, and, despite the fact that the speculative public had all the worst of the deal, the business passed off satisfactorily. During the afternoon operations were commenced on the V. R. C. Newmarket Handicap and Australian Cup in straight out and double wagering. For the six furlong race Rudolph was in most demand, and his name was written to win a few thousands at 100 to 5. Ginger was also accorded similar support at 100 to 4, and Consequence was backed to win a good stake at the same figure, while some small lines were booked about others at prices ranging from 1000 to 30 to 1000 to 20. There was no straight-out business transacted on the Australian Cup, but double books were opened on the two handicaps at 1000 to 5.

Yesterday forenoon Mr. Scarr declared the adjustments for the handicaps to be decided at Rosehill on Saturday next, and in another part of this issue his work appears. Cinderella heads the list of those engaged in the Railway Handicap with 9st., and if she has returned to her old form that impost should not prevent her from running a great race. Artocrat, who failed on 9st 7lb a score of 2lb., has not been harshly treated, and the same may be said of Gaytime and Bernado. Blarney and Fairfield have received their full share; but Handover, Pastmaster, and The Bence have been let off more lightly. Ustane has certainly no cause for complaint when allotted the handy burden of 7st. 4lb., while Sardo, Little Dick II., and Navarcho seem to be the most favoured of the light weights. Hemgist and Yokel appear to be the best in of those engaged in the Sovereign Hurdle Race, while Yasmeen, Forty Winks, and Moorcombe stand out as the most leniently treated in the Nursery Handicap. Moscow has the place of honour in the February Handicap with 8st. 9lb., and at that has no reason to be dissatisfied. With 5lb. less to carry Jacks should give a good account of himself, while Bonnie Spec, with an even 8st., should have no difficulty in appropriating the stake. Mantilla and Little Dick II. have been left with good chances, and the same may be said of Yorkshire Lass.

Stockinbingal race meeting was granted registration by the A. J. C. authorities yesterday.

Shortly after the appearance of the weights for the Rosehill February handicaps yesterday the pen was drawn through the name of Messenger in the Railway Handicap.

SYDNEY DRIVING PARK CLUB, LIMITED

The hot weather which prevailed yesterday did not deter a large number of sporting folk from assembling at Moore Park to witness the racing provided by the management of the Sydney Driving Park Club. The track had been well watered, and was in good condition, and the general arrangements were carried out without a hitch. With one exception, Mr. Hegerty despatched his fields on excellent terms, and Mr. Dargin's decisions as judge were never questioned, though he had some close finishes to engage his attention. Proceedings commenced with the Flying Handicap, for which eight left the paddock, and Tom Thumb was elected favourite, but he never showed prominently, and Idle Girl won a good race from Valentine. Cimiter was voted the best of the trio that took part in the Austion Stakes, and after Mattie had made the pace for half the distance, Cimiter came to the front and won easily. A protest was entered on the ground of jostling at the start, but on investigation it was dismissed. Lady Jane was elected favourite for the Ets Ete Handicap, but after she held the lead for a couple of furlongs Mislep came to the front and won comfortably. The Hammer Stakes was reduced to a match between Florida and Peerless, and the latter, upon whom odds of 3 to 1 were laid, won without an effort. Seven faced the starter for the Club Handicap, and fifteen were entered with most responsibility, but she could only get second to Cimiter, who won by half a length. A dozen took the track for the Time Handicap Trot, and Burwood was most in demand, while Naffve Cat had a number of admirers who accepted half a point longer odds. The latter spoiled his chances by breaking on several occasions, and the favourite, who was never headed, scored a very hollow victory. Kildare had most support for the Moore Park Handicap, and, after a good race, Eachire run the black pelding to a dead heat. In the run off odds of 6 to 4 were laid on Kildare, who had an easy win. Appended are the results:—

Nowell 16. The selling Brokers scored 110, J. Fairweather (31) and H. Cockburn (30) being the top scorers. The selling brokers won the match.

INTERCOLONIAL CRICKET MATCH.

The 44th intercolonial cricket match between New South Wales and Victoria was advanced a further stage yesterday, the Victorians completing their first innings, and following on. When the stumps were drawn on Monday the New South Wales players had made 349 in their first innings, and Victoria had lost four wickets for 101. On the resumption of the game yesterday it became dismally slow, and in the first half-hour only nine runs were scored. Drysdale knocked the bowling about a little, but in the main the play was defensive, and when the innings came to a close just before 4 o'clock the total was only 216, over three hours' play having added just 115 runs. The Victorians being still 133 to the bad, were, according to rule, required to follow on, and a cordial cheer were accorded them as the defence, the batting being continued on the same pitch. Before the spectators had settled down to the new innings Turner knocked the balls off Morris's wicket half-way to the fence. Trott followed, and a great deal was expected from such a strong combination. The batting at both ends proved to be excellent, the batsmen hitting with rare vigour. However, the score did not look half big enough when Trott was caught out for a well-earned 38, and, when Bruce, shortly afterwards, with 45 to his credit, skied a ball over the wicket, and it came down into the hands of Deane, it looked as if the inevitable could not be postponed much longer. The score was then only 80, and before it had been increased Dr. Barrett crossed the green homeward. The spectators, remembering the treat they had received from Blackham on the previous day, warmed in anticipation of a repetition of the lively play which was still fresh in their minds, somehow the bowlers held their own against him a little better than they did on the previous day, and though the Victorian skipper played with his usual confidence, the total did not increase very rapidly. However, he was still pegging away when time was called, and he had then 27 to his credit, four wickets being down for 126 runs. This left the Victorians with the total of their two innings, so far, still seven runs in arrears of the New South Wales's first, and, therefore, the visitors have now practically to play six wickets against our full team in the second innings. The New South Wales bowling proved very expensive in places. Turner came out very well with five for 71, and the two credited to Garrett cost him only 23 in the course of 30 overs; but the other averages were costly —very costly. Some excellent fielding was done by Jones, and Gregory, while Deane, who was keeping wickets, accounted for the most during the day, and got in four wickets of a fourth, who will run out. He received a hard knock on the hand in his unenviable position, and by this time has probably come to the conclusion that Turner does not bowl slows.

THE PLAY.

Dr. Barrett and M'Leod, the not-out men, resumed their innings to the bowling of Turner and Garrett, Turner making a commencement by sending in a maiden to Barrett. Very slowly indeed came the runs, Bannerman fielding a well-retrieved hit by M'Leod and saving a couple at the least. A leg ball from Turner beat Deane and went to the fence for 4 byes. Barrett at length ventured to let out at Turner and hit him along the turf to the boundary, and the straggling cheer which the batsman received encouraged him to repeat the performance. Once again Turner's delivery beat Deane, and four more byes were added to the total. Ferris then went on at the southern wicket in place of Turner, and, after another maiden, Garrett gave place to Charlton. M'Leod then exhibited a sample of what he could do when called upon, by hitting Ferris twice to the boundary at the on-side; but in the next over Barrett was disposed of, Ferris at point securing a catch off Charlton's bowling. 5-22-156. Drysdale filled the vacant crease, and Turner went on again at the southern end. The change proved fatal, as M'Leod was caught off him at the wickets. 6-19-135. Over came next and played for a long time without scoring. Drysdale made a very nice back out off Charlton to the boundary, and with the score standing at 145 an adjournment was made for luncheon. On resuming Over cut Turner square across to the boundary, and Drysdale back-cut him for 4. A leg ball from Charlton gave Drysdale a chance, of which he availed himself, and the last of the same over he cut along the turf, a boundary hit being the result in each case. Over followed this good example by making 4 off Turner with a neat forward cut. Garrett relieved Charlton and the scoring went on at its ordinary slow pace. Drysdale cut Turner, and Gregory, after a hard race, saved the 4, the batsmen running 3. Drysdale then faced Garrett, and his wicket fell. 7-26-178. Morris came next, and 3 byes were run off Turner, and 4 off Garrett. Morris tipped a leg delivery from the latter, and ran 3, Charlton getting hold of the ball after a good run as it was about to roll into the boundary trench. The same batsman had all his work cut out to get home when running a single off Turner. Morris then drove Garrett back along the ground in splendid style, and it was any odds on a boundary hit, but Jones went around at his best pace and saved 2. Over then received his dismissal through touching a ball from Turner, off which Deane took a catch. 8-45-195. Worrall was the next man to go in, and Morris signalised the new partnership by driving Garrett to the boundary, and hitting Turner past over with the same result. Charlton then went on again at the northern end. Worrall hit Turner to the off, and the batsmen ran. Gregory took the ball and returned to Deane, who had the bails off before Morris could get home. 9-17-208. Trumble was the last man to go in. Worrall pulled Charlton round to forward of square leg for a brace, and Garrett took the ball to have another try, the first over being a maiden. A tip behind the wicket gave Trumble two, and then stepping out to Turner his wicket fell, and the innings closed. 10-4-216. Worrall, the not-out man, made six.

The Victorians being 133 in arrears, had to follow on, and sent in Morris and Bruce, to the bowling of Turner and Garrett. Bruce opened with a single off Turner, Morris having a narrow escape from being run out through Gregory's return. The latter batsman then faced Turner, and played forward to him, but the length was too good, and the balls went flying away to the rear. 1-0-1. Trott came next, and played Turner forward for a couple. Bruce turned right round to Garrett, and put a leg ball to the boundary, the next being placed to mid-on, and hard run for 2. Trott stepped out to Garrett, and although Iredale made a hard run he could not intercept the ball on its journey to the boundary. Charlton had a try at the southern end, and Bruce gave him a welcome by hitting him to the boundary at the off and driving him for 2. Trott back-cut Turner to the boundary, and the batsmen then ran 3 cleverly off the next, after glancing it to leg. Bruce put one from Charlton to long-on for 3, the outfielder taking matters rather too easily. Trott followed a leg delivery from Charlton well round, and accounted for it to the tune of 4. Bruce following up by hitting Turner rather high to the outside, and cutting him along the turf, each time to the boundary. Donnan then replaced Charlton, but was not on the wicket for the start, a couple of balls being sent down to leg. Turner made the same mistake with Trott, who immediately credited himself with 4 in consequence. A very neat back-cut gave Bruce the same. Garrett took the ball at the northern end, and a hard hit by the left-hander found its way round to square leg, and 3 were run for it. The trial with Donnan not having been successful, Turner started at the southern end, and Bruce pulled him round to square-leg for 3, the ball coming to a stop only a couple of yards from the fence. Trott played to hit Turner to mid-off, but did not get fair hold of the ball, which went back behind the line of the wicket and Jones took a catch. 2—34—80. Dr. Barrett came next, and Bruce warmed up Garrett's next over, driving one ball for 3, and slipping another to the fence. His end came, however, shortly afterwards, as he hit out at a ball from Turner, and skied it directly over his own wicket, Deane securing it as it came down. 3—45—89. Blackham came next, only to see Barrett dismissed by Garrett. 4—3—89. M'Leod was the next player, and Blackham back-cut Garrett for 2, and ran 4 for a leg glance in the same over. A fine hard forward cut by M'Leod accounted for one of Turner's to the tune of 4, and Ferris went on to try his luck in place of Garrett. Blackham managed to get hold of a leg ball from Turner, and converted it into a boundary hit, following it with a 2 and 3, both on the leg side. Turner becoming slightly expensive, Garrett went on at the southern end, and Blackham slipped him to the boundary. The stumps were drawn shortly afterwards, with the total standing at 126. The following are the scores and bowling analysis:—

Accounts to Sir Saul Samuel Australia eclipses England in pugilism, cricket, sculling, and singing, and possibly racing.

The Wesleyan Conference was continued yesterday. A large number of notices of motion were given. The annual meeting of the Wesleyan Church Sustentation and Extension Society was held in the evening.

The R.M.S. Lusitania, which arrived at Melbourne yesterday, sighted a ship's boat, in which was one of the officers of the ss. Riverina, which it was ascertained grounded at 2 o'clock on Monday morning, between Ram Head and Cape Everard. The vessel is in an upright position, and no present danger is apprehended.

The contretemps at the Mayor's banquet brings out the fact that there is some difference of opinion amongst our public men as to whether New South Wales should join the other colonies in an Australian federation. Evidence of a feeling hostile to political union was shown in the correspondence which we published when Sir Henry Parkes's proposals were first placed before the public, and we see fresh signs of it in the speech which so ruffled the guests of the Mayor on Anniversary night. No doubt Mr. Salomons showed want of judgment in sounding a discordant note at a festive gathering, and the company expressed itself to that effect. But while almost every one will agree that a mistake was made no sound reason can be urged why the views which Mr. Salomons put forth should not be publicly expressed and publicly discussed when the time and occasion are appropriate. On the contrary, there is every reason why they should be discussed. If we resolve to federate with the other colonies, it is in every way desirable that we should go into the matter heartily and unreservedly, and that would be impossible if objections to union were smothered instead of being frankly and fully considered. Mr. Alomons of course committed no one by his remarks on Monday night, but his position is one of weight in the community, and, as our correspondence columns and platform speeches have shown, there are other persons, including veterans in politics like Sir John Robertson, who are not disposed to admit that federation is the best thing that could happen either for New South Wales or for the other colonies. Some feeling adverse to the movement unquestionably exists, and it would be absurd to ignore it or try to put it down without examining the grounds upon which it rests.

What are the reasons upon which the anti-federationists—those at least who belong, like Mr. Salomons, to the free-trade party—base their objections? The chief one is that if the Australian colonies federated, New South Wales would have to give up the fiscal policy which she has maintained through good and evil for so many years, not by her own will, but at the pleasure of the other colonies. Mr. Salomons says in effect that if the decision of this important question is left to the Federal Parliament, protection will be forced on New South Wales—free trade will be doomed. Other objectors have urged that if federation takes place New South Wales will probably be called upon to surrender territory and to relinquish local rights in such matters as the construction and management of our railways. Now, if federation would involve invasion of our territorial rights and interference with local affairs, the people would certainly not be disposed to exchange independence for union. We do not imagine, however, that anyone will even propose that the colonies, in federating, should make common property of their territory or hand over their local affairs to the general Government. But there are certain matters of general policy which the Federal Legislature, if federation is to be something more than a name, must decide, and the fiscal question is one of them. A united Australia with conflicting tariffs, border duties, and ports protected against each other would be a preposterous anomaly. If there is union, there must be a common tariff; we Pennant Hills; 12, Municipal Council of Liverpool, re St. Peters-Liverpool loopline. Some residents of Rydalmere will wait upon the Minister for Lands at 11 o'clock to-morrow to make representations as to the desirableness of the Government's purchasing a block of land to be dedicated as a public park for the district of Rydalmere.

We understand that there are still some details to be arranged before the names of the gentlemen who are to compose the commission to inquire into the proposed extension of the railway into the city, as well the contemplated railway extension to the eastern and south-eastern suburbs, can be published. The appointment of the commission was, it is believed, remitted by the Cabinet to the Colonial Secretary and Minister for Works. Those gentlemen have within the last three or four days met and agreed upon the gentlemen who should form the commission. It is probable that before the names are announced the gentlemen selected will be communicated with, and the precise nature of the duties it is desired they should undertake placed before them.

With reference to the Anniversary banquet held at the Town Hall on Monday night, we are informed by Mr. Simmons that, before he consented to propose the toast of the "Ministry," he explained that he would feel called upon to oppose the federation proposals of the Premier.

His Honor Mr. Justice Owen was engaged all yesterday in hearing arguments for and against a further postponement of the injunction motion in Armstrong v. Salmond, the particulars of which were given last week. The adjournment was granted until Friday next, when the application is to come on peremptorily. In the District Court, before Mr. District Court Judge Fitzhardinge and a jury of four, the case Robertson v. the Tasmanian S. N. Company was partly heard, and adjourned until to-day. It is an action brought against the Tasmanian S. N. Company to recover compensation for injuries received owing to the alleged negligence of the company's servants, in consequence of which a stack of potatoes fell upon and injured plaintiff.

The business before the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works yesterday was confined to taking further evidence as to the Molong-Parkes-Forbes railway proposal, and that from Mudgee to Gulgong. In reference to the former, Messrs. J. C. M'Lachlan, solicitor, of Sydney, and J. P. Sharkey, C.E., also practising in Sydney, gave evidence. Mr. M'Lachlan had been a resident of Orange for a number of years, and gave it as his opinion that the Borenore-Cudal-Forbes proposal gave better commercial prospects than that of Molong-Parkes-Forbes. Mr. Sharkey, who surveyed both lines, gave evidence to the same effect, and also stated that the engineering difficulties were less on the Cudal route. Mr. Henry Deane, Acting Engineer-in-chief, and Mr. T. R. Firth, Assistant Engineer in charge of trial surveys, gave evidence as to the engineering aspect of the proposal lines from Mudgee to Gulgong; and Mr. J. Harper, District Traffic Inspector, gave some information as to the likelihood of the traffic to be obtained.

The subject of initial surveys came up at the meeting of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works yesterday during the examination of Mr. Henry Deane, Acting Engineer-in-chief. In the course of the inquiries made by this committee into the various railway proposals, it has become evident that the surveys on which the estimates of cost are based were in many cases of a very casual character. The custom of the Public Works Department was to send an officer to look at the country through which the proposed line was to pass, following as nearly as possible a direct line between the starting and terminal points, and without any regard to back country, capabilities of traffic, or even the easiest route. Revised surveys have in many cases been made either shortly before the proposal has gone to the committee or during its sittings, and the result has usually been to find a line with fewer engineering difficulties, lighter gradients, and easier curves, and a consequent reduction in cost per mile. The Mudgee-Gulgong railway proposal is a case in point. The estimated cost per mile was, on the initial survey, £6988 per mile; a revised survey keeps the line of the same length (18 miles), reduces the gradients from 1 in 40 to 1 in 80, saves at least £5000 on a bridge, avoids several heavy earthworks, and the work is now estimated to cost £5800 per mile. In view of the closeness of the committee's inquiries, Mr. Deane told them that he had found it necessary to remodel the system on which initial surveys were conducted, so that at the outset a fairly accurate knowledge may be obtained by the Department of where the permanent survey would go, and consequently a true approximation to the cost of the work could be given.

With a view to removing some misapprehension which seems to have arisen in consequence of the designation "assessor" having been applied to two out of the three gentlemen composing the Land Court, we have been requested to point out that all three are "members" of the court having equal powers, the only differences being that one is the president, and his remuneration is fixed at a higher sum than that of his two associates.

The Mayor of Sydney will to-day entertain at luncheon the 15 Catholic Bishops who are at present visiting the city, and who took part in the recent ceremonies at St. Mary's Cathedral, besides a number of other prominent representatives of the Catholic body.

In honour of the visit to Sydney by the Roman Catholic prelates of Australasia who took part in the ceremony at St. Mary's Cathedral on Sunday last, his Eminence Cardinal Moran gave a dinner at St. Patrick's College, Manly, on Monday. The guests numbered about 120, including most of the clerical visitors and many of the leading laity of Sydney and district belonging to the Roman Catholic communion. The Cardinal presided and proposed the toast of "Our Guests," to which Archbishop Carr, of Melbourne, Bishops Lanigan, Moran, and Donnelly responded. Archpriest Sheehey acknowledged the toast of the clergy, and the Hon. Peter Fanning, M.L.C., replied to a similar compliment paid to the laity. A special toast was that of the architect of St. Mary's Cathedral, to which Mr. Wardell replied. Cardinal Moran's health was proposed by the Hon. D. O'Connor. Yesterday a complimentary picnic was given to the prelates by the Roman Catholics of Sydney, the place visited being the Hawkesbury River. The weather was beautifully fine. There was a large attendance of representative guests, and the celebration was in every respect an enjoyable success.

The anniversary of the Wesleyan church at Castle Hill, was celebrated on Monday by a social reunion, at which there was an attendance of about 250 persons. Mr. J. Purser presided. The financial statement was made by Mr. J. Shields. Speeches were delivered by the Revs. J. Clifton, W. G. Taylor, E. Fox, F. Elder, B.A. (C.E.), and the minister of the circuit, the Rev. J. E. Carruthers. A liberal response was made to an appeal for subscriptions towards reducing the debt, the sum of £101 being contributed. A musical programme was rendered by the choir, and refreshments were provided by the ladies of the congregation. The Rev. G. Lane preached the anniversary sermons on Sunday, to large congregations.

The annual meeting of the Wesleyan Church Sustentation and Extension Society was held in the Centenary Hall, York-street, last evening. There was a large attendance, and Dr. G. Hurst presided. The report, which was read by the secretary, the Rev. Dr Sellers, stated that the income for the year 1888 amounted to £4705 4s. 7d.; the income for 1889 had not yet been ascertained. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. W. Clarke, president of the conference, G. Lane, J. G. Morris Taylor, J. Wade, and the Hon. A. Rutledge, of Queensland.

The annual meeting of the Benevolent Society was held yesterday afternoon, the Hon. Dr. Renwick presided. A satisfactory report was presented and adopted, officers were elected for the ensuing year, and a vote of thanks accorded to the board, the committees, and the officers for the satisfactory management of the institution during the past year.

The annual meeting of the Home Teaching Society for the Blind and the Industrial Home for Blind Women was held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. Dean Cowper presided over a small attendance. A satisfactory report was presented, and addresses were delivered by the Hon. J. H. Carruthers, the Rev. C. Bright, Dr. Rossby, and others.

The remains of Mr. John V. Dalgarno, whose death was announced in yesterday's issue of the Herald, were interred yesterday afternoon. Among those present were Messrs. James Dalgarno, George and William Merriman, chief mourners; Hon. D. O'Connor, Postmaster-General; S. H. Lambton, Secretary G. P. O.; E. C. Cracknell, Superintendent Telegraphs; P. B. Walker, Assistant Superintendent Telegraphs; Rev. Canon Rich, Jas. Thompson, Eady, sen., Eady, jun., Dr. Harper Crewe, Dr. Quaiffe, J. H. Butchart, H. H. Kingsbury, J. S. Adam, A. J. Doak, Geo. Lawrence, W. V. Reid, Mathews, Chas. Gregory, and W. Wilson, and a large number of officers from the staff of the General Post Office. The burial service at the grave was read by the Rev. John Vaughan, incumbent of All Saints', Summer Hill.

The forty-fourth Intercolonial Cricket Match between New South Wales and Victoria was resumed yesterday on the Association Cricket Ground. The Victorians finished their first innings for 216, and being then 133 runs behind were obliged to follow on. They were not more fortunate in their second effort, as at the call of time four wickets had fallen for 126 runs, both Trott and Bruce being out. The match will be continued to-day.

The announcement in our cable news that Wm. J. O'Connor, the Canadian sculler, has started for Australia, will be interesting reading to the rowing men of New South Wales. The probability is that the American champion, who has already signified his willingness to meet Peter Kemp on the water, is coming direct to Sydney for the purpose of making a match with the Hawkesbury sculler. If this be the case we shall have some lively times on the Parramatta River, as several important sculling matches are almost certain to be rowed between the months of March and August. First of all, there is the Matterson-M'Lean race for £200 a-side, to be decided on the Parramatta in March. Then follows a match (already tacitly agreed upon) between Kemp and the winner of the Matterson-M'Lean race. This latter race will be for £200 a-side and the world's sculling championship. Should Kemp be defeated, there is Stansbury to be reckoned with by the aspirants to the championship honours. So that it will be seen that a number of first-class races may be witnessed on the Parramatta. O'Connor will probably seek to row Kemp at once; but it is more than likely that he will have to wait his turn, as it will be impossible for the dashing Hawkesbury sculler to meet all his opponents at one time. Kemp and Stansbury are still rowing on the Colo. O'Connor, who was born at Toronto, Canada, in 1864, has defeated Teemer, Gaudaur, Peterson, and other American scullers, and is now the acknowledged champion oarsman of all America. A race between Peter Kemp and the Canadian would doubtless draw an enormous crowd to the banks of the Parramatta championship course. O'Connor is sure to be well received by Sydney rowing men.

Tenders for the earthwork in connection with the extension of the tramway from Leichhardt to Five Dock were opened at the Works Department yesterday, the tenderers numbered 21, and included some of the unemployed. By direction of the Minister for Works a schedule was prepared by the Acting Engineer-in-Chief for Railways, Mr. H. Deane. After the receipt of this Mr. Bruce Smith saw some of the tenderers. It is understood that he will see other tenderers to-day, and the name of the successful tenderer or tenderers will be announced to-morrow.

The tenders opened by the Railway Commissioners yesterday included those for the supply of 80,000 ironbark sleepers which are to be used in connection with the duplication of certain lines. The tenders will be reported upon by an officer of the Department before one is accepted.

On Anniversary Day no fewer than 140,000 one penny fares were collected on the tramways, being an increase of 20,000 on the number collected on January 26, 1889. The railways were also well patronised on Monday, the tourist trains to the mountains and the Illawarra line especially being in great favour.

One thousand one hundred and fifteen persons visited the Australian Museum on Monday.

At the Central Police Court yesterday Arthur Thompson, on remand, was charged with having shot at John Woodward with intent to do grievous bodily harm, and was committed to take his trial at the Court of Quarter Sessions. Bail was granted.

The Attorney-General has declined to file a bill against Michael Doolan, who was committed to take his trial for larceny at the next Bega Quarter Sessions.

In the case of Jabez Ratcliffe, who was tried for perjury at the last Armidale Quarter Sessions, on which occasion the jury disagreed, the Attorney-General has decided that no further proceedings be taken against the accused.

A member of the partially-paid Artillery Force writes, stating that a large number of the members of the Volunteer Artillery are anxious to know when they are to receive the pay which was due to them a month ago.

The name of Mr. Benjamin Backhouse, chairman of the City of Sydney Improvement Board, was omitted from the list of those who attended the banquet given by the Mayor on Monday evening.

A correspondent draws attention to the state of the seats in the grand pavilion at the Association Cricket Ground, Moore Park. He states that many ladies have complained to him of the injury which their dresses have suffered through the paint on the seats adhering to them. He feels sure that the trustees, once their attention is drawn to it, will have the matter complained of remedied.

A public meeting in the interests of agriculture will be held in the Town Hall this evening, when speeches will be delivered by the Hon. William M'Millan and other representative gentlemen.

The report for the week ended December 25 of the number of pauper patients under treatment in the metropolitan hospitals at the Government expense is as follows:—Coast Hospital: Admissions, 26 males, 4 females; discharges, 37 males, 8 females; death, 1 male; number remaining, 137 males, 43 females. Sydney Hospital: Admissions, 4 males, 3 females; discharges, 4 males, 2 females; deaths, 1 male, 1 female; number remaining, 25 males, 21 females. Moorcliff Eye Hospital: Admissions, 2 males; discharges, 5 males, 1 female; number remaining, 24 males, 19 females. Prince Alfred Hospital: Admissions, 9 males, 7 females; discharges, 8 males, 2 females; deaths, 3 females; number remaining, 45 males, 21 females.

THE FEDERATION CONFERENCE.

[By Telegraph.]

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The meeting of the Federation Conference has been postponed till February 6. Mr. Gillies to-day received a telegram from Sir Henry Parkes stating that the Premier of New Zealand had advised him that the New Zealand delegates could not reach Sydney before Wednesday next week, and Melbourne before Thursday. Sir Henry Parkes suggested that as it was desirable the conference should be fully constituted, the day of meeting might be altered. Mr. Gillies cordially concurred, and having fixed Thursday, he has notified the fact to the Premiers of the other colonies. The dinner to the delegates by Mr. Gillies will be given in the Queen's Hall, at Parliament House, on that evening. It is expected that the first meeting will be devoted to devising the order of procedure and the election of president. According to custom, intercolonial conferences are usually presided over by the Premier of the colony in which the meeting is held; but in view of the important part taken by Sir Henry Parkes in the matter of Australasian Federation, it is not unlikely that he will be asked to preside. The election of secretary will be made by the Conference, but there is little doubt that Mr. Jenkins, clerk of the Assembly, will be appointed.

FLOODS IN QUEENSLAND.

GREAT DAMAGE DONE.

(From our correspondent.)

MARYBOROUGH, Sunday.

The highest flood ever recorded here was experienced on Saturday and to-day. Many houses were washed away, and immense damage done to low-lying parts of the town which were covered with water. The river was 20ft. over the usual height. All the wharf sheds were covered, several washed away, and hundreds of people forced to leave their homes. A number of lives have been lost, and traffic is suspended over Maryborough Bridge, where the river is half a mile wide in parts.

Kent, Lennox, Adelaide, and Bazaar streets are covered with water, and boats plying along the streets. Not much rain has fallen here during the last two days, and it is expected the river will fall to-morrow. The water is now 3ft. higher than the flood mark.

Monday.

The flood waters are now subsiding, being only about 6ft. above the wharfs. Five sheds were carried away, including Walker's new shed, two of Howard Smith's, and both the rowing clubs' sheds were also washed away. The suffering amongst the working people living near the river is very great. A meeting was held to-day for the relief of the sufferers, and subscription lists opened, £230 being subscribed in the room. The losses to the farmers up the river are very great, a large number having lost everything. It is supposed that six lives have been lost. No mails have been received here since Wednesday. The wharfs are expected to be clear to-morrow. The loss of sugar-cane on Cran's Island plantation is estimated at £10,000.

Two amendments were negatived, and the debate was adjourned.

THE GROUNDING OF THE RIVERINA.

THE VESSEL IN AN UPRIGHT POSITION.

NO DANGER APPREHENDED.

(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The R.M.S. Lusitania, which arrived to-day from Sydney, rounded Gabo at 6.30 yesterday morning. Two hours later a ship's boat was seen under sail flying the Union Jack. The Lusitania stopped and found it to be a lifeboat from the Riverina, in charge of the second officer, who reported to Captain Tillet that the Riverina grounded about 2 o'clock in the morning, between Ram Head and Cape Everard. He had been despatched to intercept any passing steamers, and give them notice of the stranding, or failing that to proceed to the Gabo telegraph station and communicate with Melbourne and Sydney. The Lusitania took the boat in tow, and stopped abreast of the Riverina, which lay fast on the island point, about 7 miles east of Cape Everard.

The chief officer came off and reported that the Riverina grounded while going at full speed. Land was not seen till the vessel struck, on account of the haziness of the weather. There was no need of assistance, and no danger was apprehended so long as the weather kept fine. They had safely landed all the people, with a supply of stores and water, on the main land. The Riverina had 18ft. of water in her hold. At the time the Lusitania left she was standing upright and appeared to be driven very hard on to a rocky point and aside of a small ledge off the point.

Captain Tillet is of opinion that she will hold together for a long time if the weather keeps fine. The position is a very exposed one, and full of danger if the wind comes southerly.

Although steam was got up on the Lady Loch last night to render her available for immediate service, the Customs authorities this morning decided not to despatch her to the wreck of the Riverina, as reports stated that no lives were in jeopardy. The Police Department telegraphed to a constable at Orbost to proceed at once to Ram Head and prevent any possible theft of cargo washed ashore.

A Customs officer was sent to-day to collect duty on articles from the wreck taken for local consumption.

THE SHOOTING CASE AT COPMANHURST.

THE ABORIGINAL STILL AT LARGE.

GRAFTON, Tuesday.

Inspector Casey, with a detachment of police, has scoured the bush round Copmanhurst to capture Tommy Ryan, the escaped aboriginal. Last evening they searched the scrub near the Orara in the direction of which the aboriginal was noticed to be making. All the members of the Copmanhurst Gun Club who could raise a gun were also out in pursuit; but from Ryan's previous evasions of capture his speedy falling into custody is unlikely.

While under arrest on Saturday he detailed how he escaped from the Grafton gaol. After knocking down the warder he ran along the bank, took a boat, and rowed across to Susan Island; then went to the opposite side of the island and swam the southern channel to the mainland. Here he got into a field of maize, afterwards hiding in a creek about a mile from town till night, when he took the Glen Innes-road and proceed in the direction of Orara. As he was going on White's bridge, four miles from town, he saw Senior-constable Brennan approaching. He stepped aside till the constable, who did not observe him, had passed, and then made good his escape to the bush. He was soon joined by his gin, who was with him when arrested by Hadley at camp on Saturday. Tommy says that the white prisoners were continually inciting him to escape.

Constable Hadley passed a good night and is progressing favourably.

When Inspector Casey heard of the arrest, he wired to Hadley, asking if the latter wanted assistance to bring the prisoner to Grafton, but, unfortunately, Hadley did not receive the telegram till late this morning.

Inspector Casey has started for Gordonbrook, Newbold, and Casrai, while the other detachment of police is making for Mann River, where the escape is supposed to be going.

SUICIDE BY A YOUNG MAN.

TAREE, Tuesday.

John Chisholm, a young man of about 20 years of age, relieving Mr. Nunn, telegraph master at Cundletown, jumped into the river this morning about 4 o'clock. The body was dragged for and recovered about an hour afterwards. Deceased had been ailing for the past few days, and stated yesterday "that this would be his last night on earth." Watch was kept over him during the night, but the watcher during Chisholm managed to get away from his room, made for the river and jumped in. His hat was found on the river bank; this led to an immediate search being made. Deceased lately came from Gloucester, where his friends reside. The following verdict was returned this afternoon at the inquest held on the body at Cundletown:—"We are of opinion that John Chisholm met his death by drowning about 4 o'clock this morning, near the public wharf at Cundletown, and we are of opinion that it was by his own act."

SECOND EDITION.

GROUNDING OF THE RIVERINA.

ARRIVAL OF THE WENDOUREE.

THE RIVERINA NOT ABANDONED.

The suspense in which shipping and commercial circles were held yesterday with respect to the condition of the steamer Riverina, reported ashore near Gabo Island, was most intense. At 3 a.m. to-day, however, the Wendouree made fast at Messrs. Huddart, Parker, and Company's wharf, having been delayed on the passage by weather conditions, and the fact of the steamer requiring docking and being light, in ballast. On boarding her Captain Le Neveu, of the Wendouree, very kindly supplied a statement of the occurrence as given below. In addition it was gathered that the Riverina went ashore at Island Point right up on the rock, and the crew and passengers landed subsequently, and are now living there in tents, with the exception of those who arrived by the Wendouree. The second officer, Mr. Lingham, came on in the Wendouree to interview the agents, Messrs. Alfred Lamb and Co., as representatives of the owners, and besides Mr. Lingham there arrived three lady passengers and one invalided gentleman. The total number of passengers on board the Riverina for Sydney was seven, and, as mentioned, four of these came on in the Wendouree. The remainder elected to stay by the ship, or by the captain, until further developments.

THE SECOND OFFICER'S REPORT.

The Riverina left Melbourne at 8 p.m. on Saturday last for Sydney, and passed the Promontory at 9 a.m. on Sunday. The weather was hazy and smoky from bush fires. All went well, however, until 0.35 a.m. on Monday. At that hour the captain (Prehn) and the second officer were on the bridge, and the ship was going at from 10 to 11 knots. All of a sudden land under the lee bow was reported by the man on the lookout, and the order was given "Hard a port" to the man at the wheel. The engines were stopped, and almost at the same time the man forward sang out, "Breakers ahead!" The ship swung four points at this time, and commenced to bump heavily and grind on the rocks. All way on her was immediately stopped. The passengers and crew mustered on deck, and the ship's boats were lowered, distress signals at once made, and the well sounded. It being found that there was no immediate danger of the steamer foundering, the second officer was despatched to Gabo Island to report, or to any passing vessel, and asking assistance. Soon the water commenced to flow into the engine-room, and rose to the bottom of the cylinders. No. 2 hold is pretty well full. No. 1 and 4 holds were comparatively free.

THE PASSENGERS.

No excitement of any particular kind took place amongst either passengers or crew. There was ample time to land every one, and the sea was moderately smooth.

THE POSITION OF THE SHIP.

From the position of the Riverina it is not expected that she can be readily floated. So long as the weather continues from the northwards and N.W

The new Roller Flour Milling Company is well supported, and already 5000 shares have been subscribed without canvassing the town. When 7000 shares are taken the company will be declared formed.

The weather is very warm, and rain is required.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NOWRA, TUESDAY.

Messrs. Humphrey M.L.C., E. W. O'Sullivan, and Hurley arrived here last evening as a sectional committee of the Public Works Committee to make inquiries respecting the Nowra to Kiama railway proposal. They made a detour of the district early in the morning. At 10.30 the inquiry was opened in the court, where a large number of witnesses were examined. All the witnesses approved of the line, but thought that it should have crossed the river. The loop-line, however, was advocated as a great improvement of the original proposal, terminus at Bomaderry. Messrs. O'Sullivan and Hurley seem favourably impressed with the witnesses of the district.

THE REGULATIONS FOR THE TRUCKING OF STOCK.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NARRABRI, TUESDAY.

A meeting of persons interested in the trucking of stock was called for this afternoon, for the purpose of meeting Superintendent Day, to decide whether the 7 a.m. or 6 p.m. train was the better suited to their requirements. About 40 stock-owners, with several stock agents, were present. Mr. W. Pirie was chairman. Superintendent Day was present; and, after the chairman had explained the object of the meeting, Mr. Day said he would like to hear the stock-owners' views. The Department would do its best to meet them. Mr. Mensely advocated a midday train. Mr. Day explained that the present time-table would only permit of a choice between 7 in the morning and 6 in the evening, one train per day. If a mid-day train were desired the Commissioners would no doubt consider their views in framing the next time-table, because what suits Narrabri must suit the rest of the line. The time-table now suited well for getting stock through, as it avoided a press of traffic from Gosford to Homebush. In reply to questions, Mr. Day said a deal of unnecessary time was taken in trucking. It was customary on the Western line to truck seven or eight trucks an hour. Mr. Charles Collins moved, and Mr. John Buchanan seconded, the adoption of the 7 a.m. train, as at present. Mr. Charles Collins moved, and Mr. Robert Hardy seconded, the 6 p.m. train. The latter was carried. A discussion ensued in reference to lowering freights. Owners remarked that sheep averaged 2s. per head for railway freight, while drowing by road cost 6d. Mr. Collins said the railway was intended to supersede the road. More stock would be sent by railway if the rates were less. Mr. Collins proposed, and Mr. Esther seconded, a vote of thanks to Mr. Day, who, in reply, said that regulations would be approved on the Northern line as on the Western and Southern lines.

MEETINGS.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Benevolent Society of New South Wales was held in the large hall of the institution yesterday afternoon. The President of the Board, the Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C., presided, and amongst those present were Messrs. J. Rossby, J.P., vice-president; W. Henson, J.P., treasurer; L. J. Josephson, secretary; F. Abigail, M.L.A., W. Cruse, J.P., U. W. Carpenter, J.P., H. Hargreaves, J.P., H. W. Hammond, A. Levi, E. T. Penfold, J.P., and G. Renwick, J.P. There was a moderate attendance of subscribers and members of the ladies' committee.

The annual report opened with a reference to the utility of the society as regards its extensive work of philanthropy amongst distressed humanity. The outdoor relief returns showed that a large amount of distress had been relieved during the year. Compared with the previous year's records, the number of cases had slightly increased, the figures being—Weekly average number of cases in 1888, 478. in 1889, 507. The utmost care was taken in the investigation of all cases receiving the bounty of the society, the house committee attending weekly to consider whether the varied circumstances of applicants were such as came within the category of "distressed and deserving poor." The number of cases visited and reported upon by the outdoor officer, and the numbers struck off the books weekly, showed that relief was not administered in an indiscriminate way. After a long experience the directors assured the public that the work of the asylum was so systematised as to lead to the immediate discovery of imposition. The number of foundlings admitted had been 18, as against 23 in the previous year. In March an official report was sent to the Government from the asylum, with detailed information upon the subject of the abandonment of infants, and suggesting that legislation should ensue to enforce the registration of private lying-in homes and persons undertaking the care of young children. Early in the year the buildings for the homes for destitute aged couples were erected, and all the old couples assisted by the society were admitted to them. The boarding-out system was giving considerable satisfaction, as the little ones were now merely received temporarily into the institution, and, as soon as practicable, transferred to family life in homes in healthy localities. Female pupils and male students continued to receive instruction in practical midwifery, but there were more applications for this teaching than could be granted. During the year certificates had been granted to 11 students and 7 nurses. The subscriptions and donations were £1045 2s. 11d., being an increase of £111 10s. 10d. on the preceding year. The number of destitute women and children assisted was 850. The admissions to the lying-in department numbered 252, being 28 less than in 1888. Of these 48 were married and 204 unmarried. There had been 241 births and 117 deaths, but of this number only 5 were adults. A large number of infants were admitted in a dying or hopeless condition. The ladies' committee, the building and improvement committee, and the religious visitors had been of valuable assistance in conducting the work of the asylum.

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, said that during the year the work of the institution had been carried on as successfully, if not more so, than at any time previously. In connection with the outdoor relief, the committee had hard work to perform, not only in the examination of the cases, but also in determining the amount of relief to be given. There had been much poverty and great suffering amongst the poorer classes of the community, and to them the institution was a great boon. In other places they knew that institutions for similar purposes were regulated by Act of Parliament. He hoped that it would be long before that system was introduced here, and that the management of the institution would remain in the hands of the benevolent ladies and gentlemen who devoted their time to it, and who, unencumbered by the trammels of Government officialism, performed the work. In Government institution great abuses crept in, but the experience of the last few years of that institution had been attended by nothing of that kind. In the outdoor relief the committee had been hampered by want of funds, but despite this they had accomplished a great amount of good. In connection with the reference to the abandonment of infants contained in the report, he would say that this evil was a growing one in the community, and one which would induce very serious if the Government did not take speedy steps to legislate upon it. The Government officials who had the consideration of the committee's suggestions had decided to recommend to the Government the plan suggested by the committee. The board had this question seriously under their consideration, and would do their utmost to check this great evil. He credited the matron, the house committee, and the officers for the excellent management which had distinguished the past year in particular.

The Rev. Dr. ROBERT, in seconding the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, referred to the number of years during which the society had carried on its benevolent work. It had at times changed its methods, but it had never filled a nobler sphere than it did at the present. It was satisfactory to find that each department was looked after by workers specially chosen for their fitness, and that the work had been done in so satisfactory a manner. He had great pleasure, from his long knowledge of the work of the society, in bearing testimony to the great help that it rendered to classes of persons distinguished for their utter helplessness. They could not conceal from themselves the fact that they were dealing only with results. They endeavoured to alleviate the consequences of certain forms of social disorder and inequality that exist. It would, of course, be for the wise philanthropist to endeavour to go to the root of some of these evils, and to find out how it was possible to deal not only with their effects, but also with their causes. From his knowledge of those who took an interest in charitable institutions, he could say that those who concerned them-elves in endeavouring to relieve the distress which was the effect of social troubles and social woes were the most interested in the endeavour to deal with the cause whence those evils arose.

The proposition was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. THOMPSON moved:—"That the thanks of this meeting be given to the Parliament and the public for the grants and donations of the past year." In so doing, he spoke of the efficient and discriminating manner in which the society gave relief, and regretted that the public did not seem sufficiently to recognise its value.

Mr. J. GRAHAM seconded the proposition, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. W. CRANE moved,—"That the Hon. Dr. Renwick be requested to remain in his office as president, Mr. J. Rossby and Mr. Henson as vice-presidents, Mr. L. J. Josephson as secretary, and Mr. W. Henson as treasurer."

Mr. F. ABIGAIL, M.L.A., seconded the motion, which was agreed to, and Dr. Renwick thanked the meeting for the mark of their confidence and expression of esteem.

On the motion of Mr. J. ROSSBY, seconded by Mr. J. J. JOSEPHSON, the following directors were elected:—The Mayor (Alderman Burdekin), Messrs. Harvey, J. Harris, A. Levi, and Ewan.

Mr. J. ROSSBY proposed,—"That Dr. Warren be re-elected as visiting medical officer, Dr. Woodward as hon. consulting physician, and Dr. Marano as hon. consulting surgeon."

Mr. W. HENSON seconded, and the motion was carried.

On the motion of Mr. W. HENSON, seconded by Mr. LEVI, a vote of thanks was accorded to the ladies' committee for their valuable services in connection with the lying-in department.

Mr. CARPENTER moved,—"That Mr. Henson be elected a life governor in accordance with the rules."

Mr. PENFOLD seconded, and the motion was carried.

The Rev. C. F. GARNAM proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman. As one who lived next to the institution and saw much of its work, he bore an earnest testimony to its claims, and urged that the charitable should do more to help it. He also testified to the ability of the officers, and stated that had it not been for the relief available from the institution there would have been the most deplorable suffering in the city last year. Not a deserving case could come before the society without receiving instant relief, and it had caused many a smile on a mother's face as she had been enabled to pay the rent to keep a roof over her children's heads.

The Rev. J. P. BOSTON seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

The Chairman acknowledged the compliment.

On the motion of Mr. J. ROSSBY a vote of thanks was accorded to the officers for their self-denying labour and their hearty co-operation with the management during the past year.

METROPOLITAN TRANSIT COMMISSION.

The weekly meeting of the Metropolitan Transit Commissioners was held yesterday morning at the offices, Castlereagh-street. There were present—the Mayor (Mr. S. Burdekin) in the chair, and Messrs. E. Rosberry (Inspector-General of Police), Alderman J. D. Young, and A. Edward (inspector and registrar).

A letter was read from the Tramway Department, requesting that on holidays and Saturdays an officer be stationed at the Newtown-road and one at Liverpool-street. It was decided to comply with the request as far as practicable.

The Botany Council wrote, suggesting that a deputation should wait upon them to point out the advisability of permitting Wright Hompson to ply a waggonette to the Little Bay Hospital. It was decided to receive the deputation at the next meeting.

A number of cabmen's licenses were granted and several refused.

STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF BOARD.

A meeting of the State Children's Relief Board was held at Cremorne House, Paddington, yesterday. The following members were present:—The President (the Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C.), Mrs. Good et, and Mrs. Garran. Accounts amounting to £442 11s. 5d. were submitted, and authority for their payment given. The usual statistical tables, which were also laid upon the table, showed that 28 children had been taken under control since the previous sitting of the board, while 32 had been discharged to their relatives or friends, and that 2.62 were under the board's supervision at the present time. In consequence of Mrs. de Lauret's contemplated visit to England, Miss Andrews was, upon Mrs. de Lauret's recommendation, appointed to take up the visiting in Goulburn during the latter lady's absence from the district. Ten applications from persons desirous of having their relatives withdrawn from the boarding-out system were considered, three of which were considered unsuitable and seven were approved of. Forty-four applications for State children were submitted; 10 were from undesirable persons, and the remainder were passed, as the inspector's inquiries in each case were satisfactory.

THE SYDNEY LIEDERTAFEL.

The annual meeting of the Sydney Liedertafel was held last evening, at the Sydney Catering Company's rooms, Pitt-street, Mr. Liguine occupying the chair. The committee congratulated the members on the eighth annual report, which was a record of a bright and prosperous year. The many incidents were fully set out in the printed report, comprising information regarding the Cowen concerts, the first concert of the season, the sports meeting, and smoke concert, the golden lyre of the society, the invitation from the Melbourne Liedertafel, the oratorio of "Elijah," serenade to Mr. Santley at Petty's Hotel, the musical ceremony at the celebration of the opening of the Centennial Hall, the practice-room, the orchestra, general attendances of members, &c. It was also stated that Mr. C. R. Crossman having resigned his position through leaving the colony for a trip to England, Mr. T. W. Macro was elected in his place. Mr. J. S. Perry was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. S. Sedgfield. Messrs. D. Wilkins and W. E. Milgrove had been appointed auditors. The committee referred with sorrow to the death of Mr. Syd. Sedgfield, which took place on March 11 at Wentworth Falls. After searching for a more suitable room than they were in the habit of using, the committee were glad to report that they had succeeded in their efforts, and had made arrangements with the Sydney Catering Company, 175, Pitt-street, where practices would be held on each Monday and Wednesday. It afforded them pleasure to speak in the most favourable manner of the work done by the members of the orchestra. Though numerically smaller than the preceding year, a marked improvement was apparent. The necessity for a more regular attendance of members was urged, as the year in this respect did not compare favourably with the previous one. It afforded the committee pleasure, on behalf of the members, to thank the conductor, Mr. A. J. Delargy, for his untiring efforts in promoting the welfare of the society. Appreciation of the zeal and energy displayed by the hon. secretary in furthering the interests of the society and in discharging the onerous duties of the position were emphatically expressed. There was no doubt that in a great measure the success of the society's concerts, and of those at which the society assisted, was due to the hearty manner in which the secretary entered into the work. Thanks were generously tendered and conferred for impartial criticisms and notices from time to time. Warm acknowledgments were forthcoming to Signor Lardelli, F.C.O., for a part song "To Arthes," and to Mr. Hector M'Lean, I.C.L., for the presentation of a part song, "Just You and I," composed for and dedicated to the Sydney Liedertafel by the donor. This composition the society hoped to produce early this season. The effective strength of the society at the end of the year was—first tenor 21, second tenor 20, first bass 22, second bass 22, orchestral 20, total 105. Twenty-seven new vocal members and six instrumental were admitted during the year. The society during the year were assisted by the following artists:—Mdlle. Lablache, Mrs. Palmer, Miss Colbourne Baker, Mrs. Mildenhall, Signor Dinelli-zoni, Signor Rotoski, Mr. G. Rivers Alpress, Signor Buzzi, Mons. J. de Willimoff, Herr Bonno Schæren, Mr. Henry Stockwell, Mr. John Lemmone, Mr. Herbert Rice, Mr. Edgar Straus, Mr. Albert Wentzell, Mr. W. J. Rose, Mr. Chas. Hunneberlein. Performances during the year: Symphonic ode, "The Desert." Part songs, unaccompanied: "Serenade" (solo and chorus), "Farewell to Native Land" (solo and chorus), "Comrades in Arms," "A Wet Sheet and a Flowing Sea," "Hunting Song," "In Spring Time," "Italian Salad," "Evening," "Greek War Song," "To Anthes," "Soldier's Farewell," "Hymn to Cynthia," "A Drinking Song," "Dr. St. Paul," "Song of Harold Harfager," "Free as on Mighty Pens." Part songs, chorus, &c., with orchestral accompaniment: "Joy" waltz; march, "Fazinitza"; cavatina & cabaletta, "Nabuzu;" "Cupid's Ditty;" "Star of Love," vocal waltz; "Serenade" (pianoforte and string accompaniment); "Un Ballo" (pianoforte and violin second act); "For House and Liberty," "Australia Awakens" (cantata "Captain Cook"), "The Nun of Nidaros," "A Message to Phyllis;" "Il Guirmento (The Oath), "William Tell;" "Song of the Miner," "O Christmas Night." Orchestra: "Marionettes," "Lanlier," "Anacreon;" Andante cantabile con moto, First Symphony; triumphal march, "Alfred;" scene 4, "Im Garten" (Andante from the Landlicke Hochzeit Symphony); "Nina," minuet and trio. The report and balance-sheet were adopted, on the motion of Mr. FITZGERALD, seconded by Mr. Tillidge.

The election of a committee resulted in the appointment of Messrs. M. E. A'Beckett, R. W. Finlayson, J. W. Bennett, and J. S. Perry; and the auditors, Messrs. Wilkins and Milgrove.

HOME TEACHING SOCIETY FOR THE BLIND.

The annual meeting of the Home Teaching Society for the Blind and Industrial Home for Blind Women was held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night, the Very Rev. Dean Cowper presided over a small attendance.

The report stated that the number of blind persons on the book was 207, of which number 179 were able to read, and 118 were visited and read to. The number of volumes lent was 2298, the visits paid for imparting instruction numbered 2344, the number of blind persons taught to read during the year was 16, and the teachers had travelled 14,618 miles in the performance of their work. At the close of the year there were 14 inmates in the Home for Blind Women, but 17 participated in its benefits during the year. It was hoped that when a site was obtained a suitable home would be built. The building fund had amounted to £1764 5s. 6d. The subscription list was larger than on any previous year, and the endowment fund had reached £671 11s. The financial statement showed that the receipts had been £1133 13s. 4d., while the expenditure £2046 10s. 8d., leaving a credit balance of £87 2s. 2d.

The CHAIRMAN said that the work accomplished by the society was of great value. It was of a special character. There were other institutions for the benefit of the blind in this city, but this one was for teaching the blind in their own homes. It was a missionary institution, and reached a large number of afflicted people scattered throughout the colony. These people would otherwise be weeping in perfect darkness of mind, probably deeply distressed, and wasting their time and energy in helpless misery, because they would have nothing to enlighten their minds or to cheer their depressed state. The society originated with Mr. Prescott many years ago, and had extended beyond what he had expected. They received a grant from the Government owing to the educational character of the mission, the Government assisting in proportion to the amount of the private subscription. Owing to the enthusiasm of Mr. Prescott, hundreds of the blind had had the eyes of their mind opened and had received the power of attaining knowledge. Upon the average one person in 000 was in this country afflicted with blindness. That would give about 1100 blind persons in this colony, and the institution touched at least a quarter of them. It overlapped no other society, and there must therefore be a considerable field open for further activity.

The Hon. J. H. CARRUTHERS, in moving the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, said that the report spoke volumes for the work so energetically carried on by the management. The report showed the institution to be in a flourishing condition, and it also showed that there were kind hearts and hands carrying on the noble mission. There could be no higher work than alleviating suffering and sorrow, and attempting to make up for the loss caused by such misfortunes and visitations as blindness. It was, perhaps, difficult for those in possession of all their senses to understand the keen mental suffering of those who were deprived of one of their senses. He would never forget how a dear friend of his—perhaps the truest he had—met with an accident, and how, as her sight was going day by day from her, her countenance paled and portrayed the keen mental agony within. As one of God's brightest and best gifts was passing away, so she lost the vision of all that tends to make life happy and to make the heart light, as those things went from her so her life seemed to go, and left in its place a life of suffering and darkness. But when in its place a life of suffering and darkness. But when this cause on it could be seen that something was taking its place; that the hand which brought the visitation attended to lighten the affliction. He knew that what caused such suffering and pain to him, caused suffering in thousands of homes. He knew that in many cases, by assortions, by want of kindness, want of heart, and want of common humanity, many had to bear their suffering and misery without the alleviation of their suffering; but this was not the case in British-speaking communities, and in New South Wales there was, by the generosity of the community, institutions and societies for that object. It was with a strange feeling of interest that he learned that the circular asking him to come to the meeting had been written by a blind man on the typewriter. It showed that with modern progress and invention we were doing something to give artificial aid to those who were deprived of one of their faculties. The work carried on by the society was in teaching the blind to read, write, work, and to forget to a great extent their helplessness. It received the consideration of the Government, which gave a ready aid that had never been extended at, and which he hoped would come to be given even still more readily. A reference was made in the report in regard to a site for the home. The Government had looked up as Crown lands some 4000 acres, which was a most beautiful suburban property. They were willing power to deal with that large area; and if the Government got it he did not think there would be a sheriff in Sydney that would not have a suitable site for the erection of what buildings were required.

The Rev. CHARLES BRIGHT seconded, and alluded to the satisfactory account of the year's work. For many obvious reasons the society was worthy of the support of every Christian and philanthropic person. Though it was sometimes advisable to stir the feelings of the public by appeals to their sympathy, he thought that at such meetings it was desirable not to deal too much with the suffering or deprivation of the blind, but to do as much as possible to inspire hopefulness and to show what instruction, pleasure and amusement was still open to them. He was persuaded that while they sometimes bemoaned the condition of the blind they forgot certain considerations. The secretary of the institution would not thank anyone to bemoan his position. He had shown what could be done by a blind man in the way he had educated himself and the marvellous work that he had accomplished. One of the most notable cases of the success of a man deprived of sight was, he supposed, Professor Fawcett. He lost his sight by an accident when he was 25; but a strong resolution took possession of him, and he prepared for those Cambridge lectures and prepared for public meetings, with what result was known. Never would he forget the two occasions on which he heard that blind man speak in the House of Commons, carrying the whole House with him. Never would he forget seeing that blind man's reception at a meeting addressed by John Bright at Birmingham; or how when he put up for Parliament he beat the men opposed to him in every question put at the meetings. When he was in Parliament he became Postmaster-General, and if a blind man could attain such positions as that there was hardly any position which a man so afflicted might not occupy by perseverance.

Dr. ROBERT moved,—"That this meeting desires to accord its hearty thanks to those who have so generously contributed to the institution in the past, and cordially recommends it to the liberal support and sympathy of the public in the future." It was, he said, to be borne in mind that those who had lost their sight might have minds as cultured and hearts as rich as the best of them.

Mr. E. W. MOLESWORTH, M.L.A., seconded the resolution, and stated that there were 2000 subscribers to the society.

Mr. H. S. PRESCOTT supported the motion and testified to the pleasure it gave him to have been the means of doing so much good amongst the blind. He also testified to the great assistance Mrs. Prescott had rendered to him and the society in carrying out the mission to the blind.

The proposition was carried unanimously.

Dr. ROTH proposed that the following be the office-bearers for the ensuing year:—President, the Very Rev. Dean Cowper; vice-presidents, Mr. C. S. Wilkinson and the Hon. E. Vickery, M.L.C.; general committee, Sir A. Roberts, the Rev. A. Gardiner, Dr. R. Roth, and Messrs. E. W. Molesworth, M.L.A., J. M'Kern, S. W. Barker, J. Plummer, C. E. Wigzell, and H. Prescott; hon. treasurer, Mr. E. W. Molesworth; hon. secretary, Mr. J. M'Kern; internal management committee, Messrs W. Moore, J. C. Thornthwaite, W. Leonard, W. Buzacott, and E. Arnold, and Misses Woolley, Pennell, Morgan, Fletcher, and Mrs. H. S. Press ott, treasurer.

Mr. T. MERCER seconded the motion, and gave an encouraging account of his work in New Zealand. The proposition was carried unanimously.

During the evening some musical contributions were performed in a pleasing manner.

A vote of thanks to the Dean for presiding concluded the proceedings.

THE P. AND O. STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The 49th annual general meeting of the P. and O. Company was held in London on December 13 last, when the chairman, Mr. Thos. Sutherland, M.P., delivered an interesting address, a summary of which we published in a paragraph on the 21st instant. Referring to the general business of the company, Mr. Sutherland said:—I refer to the results of our traffic and the financial outturn of the year to which the report has reference. And I will venture to express the hope that you may consider that that traffic and these financial results have been, upon the whole, not altogether unsatisfactory—(applause)—because, as it is inevitable that I should show you, we have attained these results not altogether without some disadvantages on the other side. In the first place, I need hardly recall the fact that we have very much enhanced our coal bill. We have also had to contend with another disadvantage, that we have been seriously handicapped in the rates of exchange upon the whole of our earnings in silver throughout the East. Now, gentlemen, if under those circumstances our increase in revenue is such that combined with the safety with which your vessels have been worked, we are enabled to come to you with a distribution of 8 per cent., notwithstanding the reduction in subsidy, and in spite of the other disadvantages to which I have referred, and not only able to come to you with that report, but also to put aside £40,000 to a temporary reserve, I trust you will agree with me that the result is not altogether unsatisfactory. (Applause.) And although I know we are all anxious to obtain as large returns from our property as we possibly can, I am certain you will concur with the policy of the board in placing aside that £40,000 to the temporary reserve of which I have spoken. Now, gentlemen, there is from my own point of view, only one unsatisfactory feature in the statement which we place before you this year, and that is that, notwithstanding what we know of the great expansion of trade in this country, notwithstanding that we know that the tr

The manager of the Union Bank of Australia, Limited, has been informed by cable that at a meeting of proprietors, held in London yesterday, a dividend at the rate of 14 per cent. was declared, and £17,000 carried forward.

The twenty-fourth half-yearly meeting of the Sydney Freehold Land Company was held this afternoon, Mr. John Young in the chair. The report shows that the receipts for the half-year had been:—Balance standing at credit of profit and loss, June 30, 1889, £1883; rents, £48; interest, £1242; mortgages redemption account, amount transferred, £885; profit on land sold, as per profit and loss account, £117, making £3676. The expenditure had been—Salaries, management, and general expenses, £661; amounts written off various accounts, £113; interest on mortgage, £1200; leaving £1702, out of which the directors declared a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum for the half-year ended December 31, 1889, £937; leaving a balance to credit of profit and loss, £764. The report was adopted. The election of directors was postponed.

The half-yearly meeting of the Australasian Mining Exchange Company was held this afternoon, Mr. W. J. Hobbs in the chair. The report, of which the principal figures have already been published, was adopted. Mr. W. J. Hobbs was elected a director, and Messrs. F. S. MacDermott and W. H. Lacy were appointed auditors.

The Castlemaine Brewing, Malting, and Wine and Spirit Company, Limited, have declared an interim dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum for the half-year ended 31st December.

There was a good deal of conversation to-day as to the wreck of the Riverina (s.). The local marine insurance companies have, we believe, all insurances for various amounts. A good deal of the cargo consists of softgoods. The Government have some lines of railway materials, which are insured.

As to the monetary situation in Melbourne, the following is from yesterday's Argus:—

"The local money market is unaltered. There is a rather lessened demand for money for building purposes, and the building societies are generally entertaining applications with caution, signs of overbuilding having presented themselves. It is now felt that it is quite time that the report on the affairs of the Premier Building Society was presented, and that if there is much further delay, the depositors may find that the most desirable step to take is to appeal to the Court for guidance in what is a difficult matter. The directors and their adviser doubtless recognise that, since the suspension of the society, they do not possess the power to liquidate any of its obligations out of the borrowers' repayments until the relative positions of the depositors, the mortgagees of the society's properties, and its bankers have been clearly defined by unquestionable authority at as early a date as possible. As regards the public at large, one thing is certainly imperative, viz., that the causes of the society's embarrassments shall be fully revealed, without any effort being made from impolitic motives to hush up or conceal anything."

The subscription for new loans and undertakings in the United Kingdom during the year 1889 was unprecedentedly heavy, and according to the Economist amounted to £182,747,225 up to the 14th December, against £159,237,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year. In each of the years 1885-7 the amount was less than £100,000,000. In 1881 it was £180,000,000, which was the nearest approach to the figures of 1889. The magnitude of the issues is attributed to the greatly improved trade of the country, and the larger savings made in consequence, but it was also in part due to the mania for starting trust and investment corporations, to the enormous speculation which took place in South African mining shares, and the still greater transference of the private brewery undertakings to limited liability companies. The loans raised by the Indian and Colonial Governments have not been large, amounting in all to about 16 millions, as shown by the following figures:—

—	Minimum Price of Issue.	Amount of Loan.	Amount Subscribed.	Average Price.
Cape of Good Hope 4½ per cent.	£107	£520,000	£1,505,800	£110 2 1
Indian 3 per cent.	99	3,500,000	9,052,000	101 1 5
New South Wales 3½ per cent.	102	3,500,000	3,876,000	102 5 0
South Australian 3½ per cent.	100	1,317,800	553,700 764,100	100 4 5 Par.
Tasmanian 3½ per cent.	97	1,000,000	2,195,100	98 5 8
Victoria 3½ per cent.	100	3,000,000	6,538,500	103 8 0
West Australian	107½	100,000	136,900	108 15 3
New Zealand 3½ per cent.	95	2,700,000	4,900,000	95 16 8

Only portion of the New South Wales and New Zealand loans represent additions to debts. The only important loans for British local government purposes had been the local loans issue of 2½ millions and the one million loan raised by the London County Council, and although there had been several foreign Government loans, most of them had been conversions of previously existing indebtedness. The Argentine borrowings had been upon a very large scale, amounting, apart from the conversion loans, to over 10 millions sterling. Mexico, Brazil, and Chili had also been borrowers to a comparatively small extent. Railway enterprises of one sort or another represented over 24 millions, viz., 11½ millions for undertakings in South America, Central America, and Mexico, 6½ millions for Indian and colonial companies, nearly four millions for United States Railways, and about two millions for other undertakings in Europe and Asia. Over 70 mining companies had been floated, more or less successfully, the nominal capital exceeding four millions, in addition to which several "exploration" ventures had been formed, mainly for the purpose of prospecting in South Africa. The new companies included almost every kind of enterprise under the sun. Trust and investment and brewery undertakings represented in the aggregate nearly 50 millions of capital.

In the Import markets to-day business was extremely quiet. Nothing of a speculative character transpired. Distributing houses, however, report a fair trade. The flour market is steady, the demand being confined to trade parcels at lately current quotations. In tea we note the sale of some fine Ceylon. The market will be further tested to-morrow (Wednesday), at the City Mart, by the offer of a catalogue of 2314 half-chests and 1765 boxes. There is little to note with respect to dried fruits, the market remaining about the same as last week. Holders of sugar maintain late rates, good whites being sold at £26 to £27. Of an auction catalogue the sale of 1400 bags yellows at £23 to £23 5s. is reported, also 800 bags of rations at £19 10s. The Collector of Customs has furnished to the Courier the following as the quantity of sugar exported from the undermentioned ports of Queensland from 22nd June, 1889, to 17th January, 1890:—Quantity exported from 22nd June, 1889, to 20th December, 1889, 20,016 tons; quantity exported from 21st December, 1889, to 17th January, 1890—Brisbane, 211 tons; Bundaberg, 225 tons; Rockhampton, 3 tons; Mackay, 669 tons; Dungeness, 82 tons; Cairns, 51 tons; Geraldton, 190 tons; total, 21,397 tons. The scarcity of sardines tends to the strengthening of the market, and for anything like good fish 4s. is paid in quarters. A moderate inquiry noticed for tinned salmon at from 7s. to 7s. 7½d., according to sample. Stocks of Champion's vinegar are light, and the demand for forward delivery is met with all the more difficulty from the fact that a shipment ex Riverina is supposed to be lost. Other bulk vinegar, however, is in full supply. Moderately good sales of salt have been effected, coarse at from 85s., and fine from 95s. Further inquiry for candles has been met, De Roubaix Jonar's having been sold at 6d. In liquids the day's sales have been of a general character, comprising fair trade parcels. Among the Riverina's cargo were 1250 cases of brandy, but it cannot be said that without it the market is inadequately supplied. There is nothing of moment to note with respect to jute goods, quotations being unaltered. In metals, small lines of I. C. Coke tin plates selling at 20s., but the price is a full one for a parcel. Galvanised iron firm at late rates, but very little doing in it. Linseed oil is well held at 3s. 4d. in drum; the Riverina's cargo comprised 440 gallons. There is little to notice with respect to building materials generally. Cement from the ship's side sold at 16s. 6d.; from store, 17s. is quoted for small lots.

Messrs. Frazer and Co. advertise for sale by auction to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, shipments of new season's teas, oilmen's stores, &c.; and in the afternoon, shipments of American and colonial lumber.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

Spirits, £1988 16s 8d; wine (still), £46 17s; wine (sparkling), £14; ale, porter, and beer (in wood), £3; ale, porter, and beer (in bottles), £16 18s 5d; tobacco and snuff, £196 2s 6d; tobacco (for manufacturing purposes only), £297 11s; cigars, £46 19s 6d; cigarettes, £35 12s 6d; tea, £214 11s 6d; coffee, 3s 6d; sugar (unrefined), £182 4s 7d; opium, £143 5s; rice, £14 16s 3d; dried fruits, £5 10s 10d; sarsaparilla (over 25 per cent.), £4 14s 6d; sarsaparilla (under 25 per cent.), £3. PRODUCE MARKET.—TUESDAY.

This morning, at the Darling Harbour auction sales, there was a fair attendance of the trade. The forage market was unusually heavily stocked, consisting of about 125 trucks, 80 being of hay, 42 of chaff, and three of straw. Steady competition was experienced, but prices of both hay and chaff were weaker. There was a moderate inquiry for wood. (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

There was a very dull market in silver shares generally this morning, but more firmness at the close. Block 10, after receding to £14 19s., recovered to £15 5s., buyers. Hills were quitted at £90, and were wanted at this price afterwards. Junction and British were both rather easier. Block 14 were an exception to the general dulness, in the morning selling to £11 13s., but they receded afterwards to £10 15s., recovering at the close to £10 18s. South had good support, and sold at rising prices, closing at £7 8s. Block 5 rose to 37s.; South Extended No. 1, from 9s. 9d. to 10s. 1½d. Central were without much change. Round Hill had sales to £14 5s., but came back to £13 10s. With the exception of New Koh-i-noor, which were freely taken at 26s. and 26s. 6d., not much was done in gold companies.

BROKEN HILL, TUESDAY.

Ore has been struck in the west crosscut of Block 14 about 20ft. from the main shaft. This is probably a continuation of what was passed through in sinking the shaft from the third level. If so, the quality seems to have greatly improved. The ore is friable galena carrying ironstone blende and silica. The official returns are not yet made known, but private assays gave 32oz. of silver and 30 per cent. of lead. Since this ore was cut there has been an increase of water. Sufficient work has not yet been done to give any idea of what the size of the formation may be. The western, or main, lode is still a considerable distance ahead. Yesterday morning the third smelter was blown into, and by noon bullion was running freely. The acquisition of this additional furnace ought materially to increase the weekly yields of ore. The following are the exports:—Proprietary, 578 tons bullion, valued at £29,511; Block 14, 181 tons bullion, £3542, ore 130 tons, £780; Pinnacle Tribute, 49 tons, £500; North, 42 tons, £212; Central, 70 tons, £705; British, 907 tons, £4710.

Rumours were current to-day that something good had been struck in the Imperial, but, on visiting the mine, it was found that the manager had left for Melbourne, and the man in charge reported there was nothing fresh.

The manager of the Junction reports that no change has taken place in the quality of the ore lately found in the winze where the recent rich find was struck.

The British mine in the west drive at the 400ft. level appears to be entering upon a better class of ore, but still of the same siliciou-sulphide character. It is believed that a much greater amount of driving must be done before the carbonate ore is met with.

Water in the block is gradually diminishing, consequent on the deepening of Jamieson's shaft. The manager believes that a few days will enable work to be resumed at the bottom of the shaft.

TEMORA, TUESDAY.

The manager of the Mother Shipton reef reports that the Mother Shipton shaft has been sunk 5ft. during the week through decomposed diorite. The 80ft. level has been extended 20ft., stoping a further distance of 3ft., the stone being charged with copper and other minerals and traces of gold.

STANTHORPE, TUESDAY.

Word has been received that the Wongobah Silver-mining Company, Rivertree, has discovered an immense deposit of ironstone carrying 90 per cent. of iron oxide, within a few miles of the mine, and in close connection a large vein of very pure carbonate of lime. This discovery will be valuable to the property, as they were in want of both these fluxes.

CROOKWELL, TUESDAY.

Two lots of stone of five tons each, from the Breadalbane Gold-mining Co.'s property at Victoria Flat, gave upon trial crushing 10s. 13dwt. and 1oz. 2dwt. respectively, to the ton.

DEEPWATER, TUESDAY.

The Dalmorton goldfield continues to develop nicely. Florida reef is widening as the shaft goes down. No. 2 reef, Excelsior claim, is showing gold freely. The Black Jack shaft is down 30ft., the stone carrying good gold. Fourteen pounds' weight of stone from Excelsior claim yielded at the rate of 19oz. per ton. Rich galena ore is being met with in the Castle King crosscut, going south-west in the main shaft. Good ore continues in the south-west level at No. 4 shaft. Mining operations are being actively pushed ahead, and the field generally is looking well.

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

No. 6 shaft, 350 level: Driven south 6ft. 6in.; total, 31ft.; ore which was developed in this drive pretty much cut out in present face; the ore ground has been in wedge shape, appearing first narrow back of the slip or head which ran transversely across drive from north-east to south-west, widening beyond east side of drive but narrowing back again as drive continued; total length of ore ground from first appearance to south end is about 18ft. North drive extended 3ft. 9in.; total, 36ft. 4in.; appearance little changed; narrower width of lode matter with some mineral between hard walls. 300 level: Winze sunk 6ft.; total, 13ft.; barren-horse on south-east side, good ore on north-west; this is the same shoot of ore ground shown below on the 350 drive. 350 level: South drive extended 7ft. 6in.; total, 30ft. This drive has come into very good ore, having encountered a slip as on the 350 south, back of which the ore proved good. This is undoubtedly the same head and ore shoot proven on the 350. Width of ore ground about 3ft. North drive extended 4ft. total 28ft. 6in., hard driving ground; no change during week 300 level sunk 1ft. 9in., total 12ft. 9in. Have started to drive south on this level, not with the intention of continuing the drive to great length, but to ascertain if the ore shoot just shown on the 250 continues as well to the 300. In case it does the ore should appear in 10 or 12ft. During the week despatched 15 tons 6cwt. 21lb., assaying 100oz. silver per ton.

PICNIC TO THE CATHOLIC HIERARCHY.

Yesterday a picnic to the Catholic hierarchy was given by the Roman Catholic laity of Sydney in honour of the visit to this city of the Catholic prelates who took part in the festival last Sunday which marked the completion of St. Mary's Cathedral sanctuary. The resort chosen for the occasion was the Hawkesbury River, the means of reaching which was a special train, which left Redfern for Brooklyn at 9.55. The steamer General Gordon was in waiting at the old ferry, and there the guests, to the number of about 150, embarked, and were conveyed under the Hawkesbury Bridge and on an excursion for a considerable distance up the river. The weather was all that could be desired, and as a result the beautiful scenery was correspondingly appreciated. Luncheon was served on the upper deck of the steamer, Mr. Abel being the caterer. During the repast, and at other intervals, Mr. De Groen's string band played suitable selections of music. At the luncheon Mr. J. Toohey presided, and he was supported on his right hand by Cardinal Moran, and on the left by Archbishop Carr, of Melbourne. Flanagan (diocese of Bathurst), P. D. Ryan (diocese of Armidale), J. A. Sheehy (diocese of Hobart), R. Butler (diocese of Goulburn), M. Tracey (diocese of Wilcannia). Amongst the leading laity present were Messrs. T. M. Slattery, M.L.A.; P. Hogan, M.L.A.; Alderman P. Hart, Alderman W. Hughes, E. F. Flanagan, John Hughes, J. L. Mullins, John Meagher (Bathurst), P. R. Larkin, E. J. Hollingdale, F. B. Freehill, J. J. Spruson, P. T. Riley, J. F. Hennessy, Jas. Carroll, John Bridge, Edward Heaton, John Walsh, H. M. Makinson, T. Curran, A. J. Brady, F. J. M'Carthy, P. M'Mahon, J. A. Delany (conductor of St. Mary's Cathedral choir), N. G. Barnett (organist of St. Mary's), and W. Dolman. The stewards for the day were Messrs. J. F. Hennessy, P. Stanley, E. O'Farrell, J. G. O'Connor, R. J. Dunford, C. F. Garvan, and T. Cunningham.

The CHAIRMAN proposed the only toast honoured, which was that of "His Eminence Cardinal Moran, and the Catholic Hierarchy of Australasia." In the course of a few remarks, Mr. Toohey said it was most gratifying to the Catholics of Sydney to see Cardinal Moran surrounded by so many of the Australasian Catholic prelates, and at the same time to know that his Eminence was supported in his great work by so distinguished a body, which included the oldest member of the Australasian Hierarchy, the Archbishop of Hobart, down to the youngest member of the episcopacy in these colonies. (Hear, hear.) All their guests from the eldest to the youngest were distinguished for their apostolic zeal, their undaunted courage, and their earnest piety. The Roman Catholic community was proud of its heirarchy, and therefore it was with the greatest pleasure that they as a body tendered the small mark of honour to their reverences that day. (Applause.)

Cardinal MORAN, in reply, reviewed the growth and progress of the Catholic Church in these colonies, and paid a high tribute to the zealous and generous manner in which the laity had at all times co-operated with the prelates and priests in promoting the religious and general welfare of the communities in which they lived and laboured. Regarding political matters, as they knew, every Catholic was free to espouse whichever political cause his conscience dictated—free as the wind of heaven. They were sometimes told by the newspapers that the political opinions of the Catholic body were swayed by their bishops and priests; but he was confident that, as far as he was concerned, no one could do him the injustice of believing for one moment that he would outrage the political convictions of Catholics by presuming to dictate to them what political course they should pursue. (Applause.)

The Bishops present also responded to the toast in order of seniority, all expressing their appreciation of the warm-hearted hospitality extended to them by the clergy and laity of Sydney on the present as well as on former occasions.

The chairman's health was proposed and honoured, after which the return journey for Peat's Ferry was made. The party arrived in Sydney about half-past 7 o'clock.

THE COAL LUMPERS' UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have read with surprise and interest "C. Thompson's" letter in last Saturday's issue of your paper, and again, to-day, the lumpers' secretary's reply. I would like to ask the latter gentleman if the most important assertion in "Thompson's" letter is correct, namely, that the entrance fee to the Coal Lumpers' Union is fixed at five guineas, and that only at long intervals is the union open at all. As a lover of trade union principles I say by all means let men combine against the tyranny of unjust masters, but if they can only do so by absolutely preventing their fellow-workmen from obtaining employment, will they not have both masters and men against them? Would it not be better to make the entrance fee £1, the same as other unions, and let them be always ready to enrol members? There would then be few so-called blacklegs, and the affiliated unions would not have reason to declare their rules arbitrary and refuse to support them. I am, &c.,

Thus showing the cost of the proposed new works to be £4500, to meet which expense it has been decided to increase the capital of the company by the issue of 10,000 new shares, as stated above. The whole of the capital thus obtained to be expended in the above works, and in further developing the mine. The Company has one furnace at work as a smelter and roaster, and during the short time it has been working about 12 tons of rough copper have been produced, going 85 per cent. fine copper, upon which the agent in Sydney has made an advance of £13 per ton, being 75 per cent on the ascertained value.

The following is an estimate of expenditure and receipts with a plant of 4 furnaces and a refinery in which the Directors have placed the expenditure at the highest possible limit and the percentage at the lowest, from which it will be seen the mine must become a payable concern:—

Against which the Directors estimate to have the following output, viz., three furnaces working full time, and smelting each 40 tons of ore per week, or 600 tons for the month, say at 8 per cent. fine copper will give 48 tons fine copper, which at £26 per ton at the furnace will return £1248; so that after deducting the expenses, as above, will leave £1552 8s., equal to a dividend of over is 6d per share per month. The Directors desire specially to call attention to the fact that from the admirable position of the mine 5 per cent. ores would return handsome dividends. The position of the mine and furnaces gives a saving of £360 per month in fuel alone over any other plant of equal size running on wood, to say nothing of the saving in the cartage of material and copper to and from the furnaces, the copper being put in the return coal trucks at the furnaces.

By the issue of the 10,000 new shares the Directors will have £3500 to meet an expenditure of £4500, but as the greater amount of the proposed works will extend over a period of some months, and the fact that as fast as the furnaces are completed they will be put to work, the Directors do not anticipate having to make any further calls; but in the event of calls having to be made, they are not likely to exceed 2d per share per month, and then only six calls would have to be made to cover the balance of the proposed expenditure.

Appended are the Reports of Mr. Sloe, Inspector of Mines, and Captain John Scoble who is now Manager of the Mine:—

Mr. W. R. Sloe, Inspector of Mines, has forwarded to the Under-Secretary for the Department of Mines the following report anent the copper mines now being worked near Blayney:—

"I do myself the honour to inform you that, while en route to my headquarters, at Orange, I made a stay at Blayney for the purpose of inspecting the Great Blayney Copper Mine.

"This property is known as the Lliendale Estate, 640 acres (Marsden's freehold), and is situated on an oblong hill, which rises about 300ft. above the western boundary of the town of Blayney, about three-quarters of a mile from the Blayney railway station. The permanent railway survey of the Blayney and Carcoar railway line crosses the Company's property within 200 yards of their main shaft.

"Large blows of irregular veins of brown hematite or limonite iron are cropping up on the surface in several places on this company's property of sufficient high percentage to have said Mr. Marsden for raising and forwarding large quantities to the Lithgow smelting works. In working two of these irregular iron ore veins, one of which underlies to the east, and the other to the west, converging into each other, stains of copper were met with, which induced Mr. Marsden to sink a shaft on the course of the veins, and at the depth of 84ft. from the surface he was rewarded by the appearance of green carbonate; but it was not until the depth of 92ft. was reached that a lode of copper ore fully 12ft. wide was struck.

"The company, formed under the No-Liability Act, has lately purchased from Mr. Marsden the whole of the 640 acres on a 50 years' lease, without any royalty. They have erected a 10 h.p. winding engine, cut down and timbered their main shaft to a depth of 95ft. in length by 4ft. in width, and are carrying out other improvements necessary for the development of their no doubt valuable mine.

"Their mining manager, Captain Monsracks, has had many years of experience as a mining manager, and will no doubt do his best to develop the mine under his charge, having due regard to the interests of his company and the safety of the persons under him.

"There are four shafts on the mine—1, Engine or Marsden's shaft; 2, Mark's shaft; 3, Monsracks's shaft; 4, Moverfield's shaft. Between Marsden's and Mark's shafts the distance is 350ft.; both shafts are on ore, but not as yet connected with each other. There are, however, good indications that the lode in Mark's shaft north and in Marsden's shaft south will be connected as one and the same lode. This might not be done by one unbroken line of the lode, simply because the two shafts referred to are in a direct line north and south, whereas the lode strikes nearly north west, but no doubt the lode will be connected in 'leaves.' If the latter is not the case, then the lode in Marsden's shaft and the lode in Mark's shaft are two distinct lodes.

"In Marsden's or engine shaft, at a depth of 95ft., the lode is about 30ft. wide, consisting of black oxides with occasional patches of grey oxides and green carbonates intermixed; the strike of the lode is north-west, with an easterly underlay. From the 95ft. to the 110ft. level a vein of white clay, about 2ft. in thickness, underlies the lode, the clay resting on a vein of malleable copper, about half an inch in thickness; immediately below where the malleable copper terminates a rich lode of yellow sulphides with bunches of black oxides fully 10ft. in width, is exposed to view, which at the lowest or 130ft. level has been opened out in a north and south direction 58ft., shewing a solid mass of ore. The Marsden shaft is 30ft. below the level last mentioned, and is a few feet west of the lode; a pen'orse has been put in for the safety of the men, and the sinking of the shaft is proceeded with night and day.

"Mark's shaft, as stated above, is 500ft. north of Marsden's shaft. At the depth of 92ft. the back of the lode has been struck fully 10ft. in width, consisting of a soft lode of oxides, carbonates, and sulphides, workable with the pick without any explosive. This lode is gradually widening out, and at the depth of 135ft. the lode is 33ft. in width; the strike of the lode is N.W., with easterly underlay, and is opened out about 25ft. north of the shaft.

At the 110ft. level a drive was opened 30ft. west of Mark's shaft and 83ft. in a southerly direction. Here a new bunch of ore was struck about 8ft. in thickness, which for richness and appearance surpasses any yet obtained in the mine. Some of the red oxides obtained in the new find ought to assay at least 40 per cent.; but the new discovery is not sufficiently developed for me to state whether it is an entirely new lode or only a 'leaver' of Mark's lode. I rather think the latter will be the case.

"By a look through the company's books I find that assays made of the black oxides gave from 18 to 20 per cent., and yellow sulphides from 9 to 30 per cent.; but these probably were picked samples. The fact, however, remains that during the short time the company took possession 570 tons of ore taken indiscriminately from Marsden and Mark's shaft, without any but the most primitive appliances and machinery for dressing the ore, produced 48 tons 15cwt. of refined copper ingots; and it must be borne in mind that three out of the four furnaces in use were newly erected by the company, and the bottoms were also quite new, and must have been charged with a large amount of copper, the actual quantity of which it is difficult to estimate. The above returns are up to the end of last month. Each truck of ore as it is despatched from Blayney to Belmain is tested by assay, and the yellow ore from Marsden's shaft gave returns from 9 to 31 per cent.; the soft ore from the big lode in Marks' shaft assays from 4½ to 7 per cent., but the lode seems improving, the last always having come up to 11½ per cent. During the month the results from the furnaces with an average quantity of ore from both shafts show a return of 9 to 10 per cent. of refined copper, but a far higher percentage of copper will probably be realised when the large lode in Marsden's shaft is opened, combined with the new find to the west of Mark's shaft, which consists of very rich red oxides, carbonates and black ore. Independent of the lode as at present opened, there are indications on the surface of lodes east and west of the present workings, and that copper ores will be discovered both in north and south directions. The discovery of this rich copper deposit is of great importance, especially to the district of Blayney, but is no to the Bathurst, Carcoar, and Cowra districts, and to the colony generally. Here we have a large district near the railway lines with immense mineral wealth lagging as it were, to be developed. The country round Blayney, Carcoar, and Cowra is highly sunferous and auriferous, but little has been done to develop the said resources.

The geological formation in the vicinity of the Great Blayney Copper Mine is greenstone or felspar of hornblende porphyry, with epidote in the joints (variety of diorite), a favourable rock for gold and other minerals.

This formation can be traced in a north and south direction for miles, being intersected at various points by limestone and diluvial schists. A gold mine is now working only five miles from Blayney at Brown's Creek. The works are very extensive, and are managed by Mr. Edwards, who has been able for some years past to give a dividend out of crushings averaging only 7dwt. of gold per ton.

Mr. C. S. Wilkinson, Government geologist, as early as 1876 drew attention in a report to the Minister of Mines, the Hon. John Lucas, on the iron deposits of the Blayney, Carcoar, and Cowra districts, giving as his opinion that rich copper lodes were likely to be found under the iron ore.

The late Mr. S. Stutchbury says of the iron ore near Carcoar:—"In a gully or creek, called the Waterfall Creek, and at the extremity of a mountain spur known as the Rocky Ridge, there is an immense mass of argillaceous iron hematite, forming in one solid mass a precipitous waterfall 60ft. in height. In this mass of iron, especially in the joints, there are brilliant crystals of iron pyrites, with a small quantity of yellow ore and traces of blue and green carbonates of copper. Here are also found iron sulphites from the composition of the pyrites."

The discovery of the Great Blayney Copper Mine has proved the theoretical results that the scientific opinions expressed by Messrs. Stutchbury and Wilkinson were correct.

Specimens of the various ores from the Great Blayney Copper Mine were kindly given to me, and can be seen at the Museum of Mines.

Below will be found a copy of the report on the above mine by John Scoble, of the Frogmore Copper Mine. A large amount of capital and labour have been spent on the mine, but owing to the want of furnaces and the low price of copper some time back, work had to be stopped. A new company has now been formed, and it is intended to at once commence building furnaces. The mine is situated within 100 yards of the Blayney-Murrumburrah railway line, and as the ore is plentiful and of good quality, success is assured:—

"Samuel Marsden, Esq., Local Manager Annandale Copper Mine, Blayney. Dear Sir,—In compliance with your request, I inspected the Annandale Copper Mine, at Blayney, on the 14th and 15th instant, and herewith I beg to submit my report on the same for your information and perusal; and in so doing, in the first place I may state that of all the mines I have visited in the colony I have not seen one with so much ore in it allowed to remain idle for such a length of time as the Annandale Mine has been. I may state that I was very much surprised at seeing such large quantities of ore visible in the mine.

"At Mark's shaft: At the 110ft. level there is a large lode over 30ft. wide, composed of black oxide with a small percentage of both green and blue carbonates of copper, the gangue of which consists of decomposed diorite and calcareous spar; in a very soft and decomposed state and could be easily worked. I reckon this lode taken out of a face should yield from 7 to 9 per cent. for fine copper; but by being a little careful in the breaking of the ore, and discarding what is allotted to the hands of gunnar (poor stuff) which is mixed through the lode in my opinion the percentage could easily be raised to 11 or 12 per cent. With regard to the quantity of ore available in this lode, it would be simply impossible for me or anyone else to attempt to surface. One thing I may state, there are thousands of tons of ore ready for taking out, and which could be worked very heaply.

"At the 130ft. level in the same shaft the lode is of just the same character as that described at the 110ft. level, with one exception, viz., there are less of both green and blue carbonates of copper. At this drive (130ft. level) the lode is worked from the footwall, about 20ft., towards the hangingwall, and that the hanging-wall in this drive has not yet been met with, therefore I am unable to state the width of the lode. I am sorry I could not get down to see the bottom workings in this shaft, through the water being in there. From off the bottom of the shaft were there a shaft sunk on this lode further north, in a proper position, so as to reach the sulphurets at a depth, that an immense lode of this ore would be met with, and judging from the sulphurets I saw on the mine it would be first-class smelting ore.

"I may state that while I was on the mine I was told of two lodes being in close proximity to each other known as Newtown and Mark's lodes. This certainly is an error, as I find the so-called Newton's and Mark's lodes to be one and the same, its course being a few points west of north and east of south, so that Newton's, Mark's, and Mayfield's shafts are on one and the same lode.

"In Marsden's Shaft and the Whim Shaft. With these shafts are on another and distinct lode from that of Mark's, &c., and have just the same cardinal bearings, viz., a few points west of north and east of south. As you are aware, the water being in Marsden's shaft, I could only get down to the water level, which is about 90ft. below the surface. At this depth there are large quantities of rich ores, chiefly black oxides of copper with a small portion of carbonates, both green and blue, samples of which you have, I suppose, sent away for assay.

"In Whim Shaft: This shaft, I find, has been sunk about 70ft. vertically from thence to a depth of 90ft. on the course of the lode, the underlay of which is about 8ft. in the fathom. The workings in this shaft from the 70ft. level downwards are about 10ft. wide, and at present there is no footwall to be seen, so that I cannot say the width of the lode. There are large quantities of ore now standing in each end of the shaft, also on the footwall side of the shaft. Large quantities of ore could be got from this shaft without any delay whatever, were you disposed to do so, and with but little dressing would yield full 12 per cent. for fine copper. There being no drives extending from this shaft, it is impossible to say what amount of ore there is contained in this part of the mine; but from its appearance suffice it to say that large quantities of ore are now visible and ready for taking out. I would advise the sinking of this shaft to the same level with the bottom of the underlay shaft in Marsden's workings, and then put a drive through to intersect Marsden's shaft. By doing so, I have reason to think that some thousands of tons of ore would be available; and by doing so both the working in Marsden's and the Whim shaft would be thoroughly ventilated. This part of the property in itself affords a grand prospect for any company that has an inclination for mining, and I am fully satisfied, if properly worked, would prove a remunerative speculation. There are now about 300 tons of rough ore on the surface, provided you had smelting works erected on the mine.

"Remarks.—It would appear from the present appearances of the whole of the workings previously done there must have been a notion that the lodes run east and west in their true course as the shafts are all sunk in accordance with that notion, which is an error, and has been the means of a deal of unnecessary expense, as we find the course of the lodes to be north and south. Yours obedient servant,

"JOHN SCOBLE, Mining Manager."

REPORT OF THE MINE MANAGER.

"Annandale Copper Mine,
"12th December, 1889.

"To the Directors,—Gentlemen,—I beg to state the Whim shaft, in which we have just discontinued sinking for the present, is now 120ft. deep vertically. At this point the shaft struck the footwall of the lode at 47ft. sunk has been much sulphurets of a fair quality, of say 10 per cent. for copper. At the 70ft. level a crosscut has been put through to the footwall, which shows the lode there to be fully 30ft. wide; from the roof of this cross-cut, there has been a drive extended south about 12ft. The lode here consists of green and blue carbonates of copper intermixed gossan, &c., also a drive north about 12ft. of a similar character. The lode throughout looks well and shows no sign of diminution in either size or quality. The quantities of ore in this lode are something immense. Here I give you a few figures to show the quantity of ore contained in say 45ft. depth on the course of the lode, by say 120ft. in length and 30ft. in width—120 60cft. cubic feet say 12 cubic feet for a ton of ore—this shows 15,360 tons of ore, say if yields only 9 per cent. for copper that would give us 1384 tons of copper, say worth £26 per ton, £36,073. Now, when we look at the above figures and reckon the amount of metal contained in a few feet of such lode what may we not expect when our mine is thoroughly opened and developed.

"Now gentlemen, in order to work our mine efficiently and practically we require the erection of four new furnaces, that is, three ore furnaces and one refinery, also a new engine shaft, pumping gear, &c.; get the above work carried out, then I think you would have one of the best properties in New South Wales. I think £5000 would be sufficient to complete the whole of the work required, to put all in first-class working order.

"Your obedient servant,
"JOHN SCOBLE,
"Mine Manager."

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—TUESDAY, JANUARY 28.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

HENDY-POOLEY AND ANOTHER V. O'HANLAN AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Hanbury Davies, instructed by Messrs. Lawrence and M'Lachlan, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Tarleton, instructed by Mr. W. C. Proctor, for the defendants.

This was an application on behalf of the plaintiffs, Hendy-Pooley and Grace his daughter, to continue the injunction granted on the 24th instant to restrain the defendants from selling or otherwise dealing with certain furniture alleged by plaintiffs to have been illegally removed from their premises, under a bill of sale, the validity of which is challenged. On the application of Mr. Tarleton, the motion was adjourned until Tuesday next, to enable defendants to reply to certain affidavits filed by plaintiffs, and the injunction was continued until that day.

ARMSTRONG V. SALMOND.

Mr. Lingen and Mr. G. Campbell, instructed by Messrs. M'Namara and Norton, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Salomons, Q.C., Mr. Walker, and Mr. Owen, instructed by Messrs. Levy, Heimsley, and Parkin, for the defendant. This was an application on behalf of Henry Charles Armstrong, to continue an interim injunction to restrain Charles Short Salmond from selling, mortgaging, or otherwise dealing with certain property acquired by him from the sale of the Enmore mine, situated at Uralla, near Armidale, until the hearing of the suit between the parties.

Mr. Lingen moved for a further adjournment on the ground that the other side having filed fresh affidavits, plaintiff was entitled to have time to reply to them. He also desired to obtain affidavits from Messrs. Hatfield and Moody in corroboration of plaintiff's statement of claim. He read two additional affidavits which had been filed by plaintiff.

Mr. Salomons opposed the motion, and submitted that no ground had been made out for an injunction. Plaintiff in his statement of claim relied upon the alleged agreement of the 7th August, by which there was a sale of the share for £250, but that ground had now been abandoned, and he based his claim absolutely and entirely upon the allegation that a partnership existed between him and defendant, and that being so, it was palpable that plaintiff, after his demand that the £300 which he had advanced should be returned, could not now come into Court and endeavour to recover in the suit upon the ground now stated.

Mr. Lingen having replied, his Honor said that as he did not wish to shut out any evidence he would grant a further adjournment until Friday, but would then deal with the motion whether the affidavits had been filed or not.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

TUESDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge FITZHARDINGE and a jury of four.)

ROBERTSON V. TASMANIAN S. N. COMPANY.

Mr. Moriarty, instructed by Messrs. Curtis and Barry, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Field, instructed by Messrs. Ely and Hamilton, for the defendants. This was an action brought by Lawrence Robertson against the Tasmanian Steam Navigation Company to recover compensation for injuries sustained owing to the defendants' servants having, as alleged, so negligently, carelessly, and improperly stacked a quantity of potatoes on their wharf that they fell upon and seriously injured him. Damages were laid at £200. The defence was a denial of the negligence, and also a plea that the accident was entirely caused by the carelessness of plaintiff himself. According to the plaintiff's statement, it appeared that on the 11th of March last he was engaged loading potatoes upon a dray, on the defendants' wharf, for Messrs. Clarke and Co., of Sussex-street, in whose service he was at the time, and he had just completed the load when a portion of the stack of potatoes fell upon him, causing a dislocation of the shoulder and a sprained ankle. In consequence of these injuries he was under the care of a medical man for three or four months, and had not been able to work since March 11. At the close of the plaintiff's case, Mr. Field moved for a nonsuit, on the ground that plaintiff having in his plaint alleged that the accident was caused by defendant's negligence, "and not otherwise," he was bound to show that it was not brought about by his own negligent act. As he had not done so, he could not recover.

His Honor declined to nonsuit, holding that there was a case to go to a jury, and defendants then called witnesses to prove that the fall of the stack was occasioned by the careless and improper manner in which the plaintiff was unloading it, and that defendant's servants had erected and bound the stack in the usual manner.

The case had not concluded when the Court adjourned.

INQUEST.

DEATH AT A DANCING SALOON.

The adjourned inquest on the body of Amy Cecilia Tinton, aged 15½ years, who died suddenly on Saturday night, the 18th instant, was held at the Hand and Heart Hotel, Athlone-place, yesterday morning. The evidence adduced was similar to that given on the former occasion, showing that the girl attended a dance at the University Hall, Parramatta-street, and that she suddenly became ill, was carried into an adjacent room, and afterwards taken home, where she died. The medical evidence went to show that death was caused by suffocation, through the lodgment of several pieces of meat in the windpipe, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the medical testimony, adding that in their opinion, if medical aid had been sought in the first instance, her life might have been saved.

MARINE BOARD.

CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS AGAINST A CAPTAIN

A meeting of the Marine Board was held yesterday afternoon, to inquire into the case of Captain Benson, late master of the steamer Greyhound. The President (Captain Hixson, R.N.) presided, and six members were present. Benson was charged with drunkenness and misconduct, and with neglecting his duties as master of the steamer Greyhound by absenting himself from it on the 23rd ultimo and returning drunk, and next neglecting to take the steamer to sea to Moruya on the 30th ultimo. Mr. C. T. Richards appeared for the defence.

Henry Benson said he first held a master's certificate in 1874, and had never had any charges laid against him; took charge of the Greyhound on the 28th ultimo; on that date was discharging her at Murphy's wharf; proceeded to sea with seven tons of coal, which would only last for 17 hours' hard steaming; put to sea on the 29th ultimo, and on the 30th had to put into Botany Bay through stress of weather, being unable to proceed any further; went on shore, and, falling sick, went home; the new master of the vessel (Captain Simmons) called on him and showed witness his papers; witness asked if Mr. Cass had sent any money, and the new master replied, "No;" he (Benson) afterwards called on Mr. Cass and asked for his wages, and the latter said he would pay him, if it were lawful, after the Marine Board had examined him.

By Mr. Cass: Towed a launch down on his first trip to Moruya, and it took 25 hours from Botany Bay; the vessel consumes 6½ tons of coal in 24 hours with hard steaming; he went on shore at 9 o'clock in the morning, and at 12 o'clock he went to Murphy's wharf and found that the ship had been moved: he found the ship moored and at Kethel's Market wharf at 4 o'clock; went through the town looking for cargo for the ship.

Mr. Cass: Will you tell the board what you did in collecting cargo?

Witness: There is no need for that.

The President: You've told us that you were looking for cargo. Now, what did you do?

Witness: Well, sir, I went to the ship's chandler.

President: But that is not cargo. What did you do?

No answer.

Mr. Richards: Please, Benson, tell what you did.

Here the witness made some rambling statements, when Mr. Richards rose and, bowing to the Court, said he would retire from the case and have nothing more to do with it.

The court was then cleared while the Board considered their verdict.

The report of the Board showed that Benson had been guilty of gross misconduct, and ordered that his certificate be suspended for three months.

POLICE.

Mr. C. Delohery, D.S.M., presided at the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday. William Rodgers had a charge of using threatening language towards his wife proved against him, and was bound over to keep the peace for six months, and ordered to find sureties, self in £20, and one in £10, or in default to be imprisoned for two months. Edward Clarke pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting Mr. Jessup. Accused was fined 40s., with 21 days' option. A German named John Johnson was charged with having stolen a suit of clothes, the property of Charles Brown. The arrest was made consequent on information given to the police by Brown. It seems that some few days ago the two men were boarding together at Pavie's restaurant in Pitt-street, where Brown was a pantryman. The latter had a new suit of clothes, and he asked Johnson to mind them for him while he was away. Johnson promised to do so, but ran away with them. Prisoner was committed for trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions to be held on February 3 next. A man named Denis M'Dare, alias M'Donald, appeared in answer to two charges—one for offering and uttering to one Samuel Crossland, at Leichhardt, a counterfeit coin resembling a shilling, and the other for having six pieces of counterfeit coins resembling shillings in his possession, with intent to utter the same. The police asked for a remand for a week, which was granted. Bail was refused. Richard Johnson, 29, was fined £5 for having assaulted Joseph Thomas, in default, to be imprisoned for two months. George Harrison and Thomas Griffith were charged with having 34 stone bottles in their possession reasonably supposed to be stolen. The former received a sentence of three months' imprisonment, and the latter two months', with hard labour. Alli Thomas, an Afghan, was committed to take his trial on a charge of having robbed Alli Hamet of the sum of £6 2s. 1½d., on the 4th of October last; and on a charge of having stolen a gold scarf pin, valued at £3, the property of W. R. Ward, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour. William Hammerston was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for having stolen a silver watch, valued at £3 10s.

Mr. G. W. F. Addison, S.M., dealt with the business in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT yesterday, and Mr. T. K. Abbott, S.M., presided in the Summons Division. Charles Fernon, 20, steward, was fined 20s. or seven days' gaol for travelling from Melbourne to Sydney per the s.s. Arawatta without having previously paid his fare, and with intent to avoid payment thereof. Edward Warner, 43, labourer, was sent to gaol for a month, with hard labour, on a charge of stealing a thermometer, valued 4s., the property of Richard Williams. Samuel Hughes, 26, dealer, charged with playing at an unlawful game of chance, to wit "bonanza," on the Randwick racecourse, was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, with hard labour. Joseph T. Cofill, who keeps a livery stable in Engine-street, was fined £1, and 5s. 6d. costs, or three days to gaol, for neglecting to furnish a return of the stock owned by him to the Chief Inspector of Stock. The information was laid under the Pastures and Stock Protection Act. John Sims was charged with obtaining the sum of £43 from Wm. O. Reynolds by means of a false pretence, and with intent to defraud. It was said that the money was the property of the Universal Advance and Investment Association, Limited. The accused was further charged that he did offer, utter, dispose of, and put off a forged cheque for £5 drawn on the Bank of New South Wales, dated December 24, 1889, and purporting to be signed by Charles Cowper. No evidence was taken in either case, the accused being remanded for one week. He was admitted to bail.

ALLEGED THEFT OF A LETTER.

Joseph Cosgrove, a letter-carrier, was charged at the Water Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Addison, with stealing a letter, the property of the Postmaster-General, the said letter being addressed to Mrs. Rowley, No. 59, Judd-street, Woollcomooloo.

Detective Abbots, stationed at the General Post Office, said that on the 21st instant he made up a letter and addressed it to "Mrs. Rowley, No. 59, Judd-street, Woollcomooloo;" the letter contained a £1 note, a forged £1 note, and six penny postage stamps; he marked the stamps, and before closing the letter showed it to Mr. M'Mahon, assistant superintendent; the letter was then posted; later on in the day he saw the prisoner Cosgrove on his beat; he passed the house to which the letter was addressed, but made no attempt to deliver it; some time afterwards witness saw Cosgrove in one of the offices at the General Post Office; told the accused he wished to know something about a letter he had taken out of the office that day; witness said to prisoner, "I know you have taken the letter out; you have not delivered it, and you have not returned it; where is it?" the accused said he had never had a letter addressed to Mrs. Rowley in his possession. Superintendent Day, who was present, then asked Cosgrove if he had any objection to be searched; the accused said, "No;" witness searched him, and found six penny postage stamps and some money in his possession; the stamps were those witness had placed in the letter; prisoner was then charged with stealing the letter; Cosgrove replied, "All right;" witness had received the forged £1 note produced from a police officer.

Mr. Addison to Abbott: Why did you post a forged £1 note?

Detective Abbott: I should not have found him out if the note had not been forged: had it been a good one nothing would have been heard of it.

Mr. Addison: I suppose you call that doing evil that good may come.

Detective Abbott: Yes.

Mr. Addison: Well, it is a queer thing for the police to put a forged note into circulation.

Mr. M'Mahon, assistant superintendent at the General Post Office, gave corroborative evidence. After the letter was posted by Abbot the witness saw it placed on letter-carrier Cosgrove's table: prisoner had been in the service about four or five years; had been told that the accused went to Africa with the Soudan Contingent.

Mr. Day, superintendent of the General Post Office, also gave evidence. He identified the postage stamps found on Cosgrove as those which had been marked and placed in a letter addressed to Mrs. Rowley.

Constable Gowan deposed that he obtained the forged Commercial Bank £1 note produced from a Mr. Corcoran residing in Duke-street; witness handed the note to Detective Abbot; witness received instructions to go to prisoner's beat and ascertain where he had cashed the note.

Patrick Corcoran, hotelkeeper, Duke-street, Woollcomooloo, said he knew the accused; on the morning of the 21st instant prisoner came to witness's house, had a shandygaff, and asked him to change a £1 note; witness did so; subsequently gave the note to Constable Gowan.

The accused, who reserved his defence, was committed to take his trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions, sitting at Darlinghurst on the 3rd February. Bail was allowed.

LICENSING COURT.

The weekly Licensing Court was held yesterday at the Central Police Court. Messrs. Delohery and M'Intosh, L.Ms., presided. Transfers of publican's licenses were granted from Thomas Duffy, of the Evening Star Hotel, Strawberry-hills, to J. F. M'Clanahan; from Charles Gray, of the Surry Hills Hotel, Gippe-street, to Abednigo Davis; from G. H. Davies, of the City View Hotel, to Angus Cameron; and from Charles Burnett, of the Club House Hotel, Newtown-road, and Watkin-street, Newtown, to William Bryant. A transfer of a wine and spirit license was granted from Lancelot Lloyd (as official assignee) to Frederick Butcher, for premises situated at 474, George-street. A transfer of brewer's license for premises at Marrickville was granted from Augustus Morris (as official assignee) to Cornelius Joseph Murney. Leave of absence for five months was granted to W. Farmer, of the Turf Club Hotel. A special auctioneer's license was granted to Malcolm A. M'Kinnon, of Liverpool and Sussex streets. Four music permits and 12 hawker's licenses were also granted.

REVISION COURTS.

The municipal council of St. Peters met on Tuesday evening for the purpose of revising the municipal lists for the year 1890-91. There were present the Mayor (R. H. Judd), with Aldermen Baker, Pallick, Hayes, Walmsley, A. Harber, E. Harber, J. Edwards, and Geering. The lists of various persons claiming to have their names inserted on the municipal lists for the several wards were dealt with and decided as noted on the several sheets, when the court closed.

The Rockdale Council held its revision court on Wednesday evening last, when there were present a full council, and also the valuers, who had been requested to attend. The applications were numerous, and were all dealt with in accordance with the Municipalities Act of 1867.

The Revision Court of the Kogarah Council was held on Wednesday afternoon last, and took some considerable time in revising the lists.

The Hurstville Council held its Revision Court after the fortnightly meeting on Thursday evening last. There was a full council present. The claims were few, and were quickly disposed of, when the Court closed.

The annual Revision Court of the Municipality of Ryde was held on Friday evening last. No applications for insertion of or objections to names already on the lists were received. Two names (deceased during the year) were expunged.

Thunda is situated in the South Gregory district of Queensland, and contains an area of 340 square miles of the richest grazing country, being heavily grassed with Mitchell Bluie, and all other fattening grasses. Salt bush also grows luxuriantly all over the run, which is well watered by the Thunda and Wichoitie creeks, three large lakes, which hold water from 9 months to 3 years without rain, also numerous tanks and dams; in all, 55,000 cubic yards have been excavated.

The cattle are a really choice well-bred quiet herd, none but the best bulls procurable having been used for many years. No cattle have been taken off since June, 1888, and at the present time all the cattle are prime fat. There are a really grand lot of bullocks now ready for market.
The horses are a superior lot, and, in addition to the stock horses, there are a number of very fine draughts.
TERMS: One-third cash, balance at one and two years, secured in the usual way.
THUNDA is admitted to be one of the finest runs in Queensland, and well adapted for sheep, the great water supply rendering it free from drought in that respect, and we can strongly recommend inspection. The owners' instructions are to sell.
THUNDA is surrounded by the well-known runs, Kenroon, Garden, Balgreo, Retreat, Galway Downs, Springfield, and other first-class properties.
